GROUPS PROBE RADIO RUMPUS

Investigation by One of Four Groups on Voice of America Ordered by Truman.

By The Associated Press

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, May 28 — Discontinuance of the "Voice of America," or at least "a breather" in its world broadcasts, was proposed today by Rep. Chenoweth (R-Colo.). Chenoweth made this suggestion as four investigating groups—one ordered by President Truman—began digging into the rumpus over broadcasts which congressmen say have slandered the United States.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 28—Four investigating groups—one ordered into action by President Truman—scrambled today to get to the bottom of the Voice of America rumpus.

The drive to pin the blame for short wave broadcasts which lawmakers blasted as sabotage and slander shaped up this way:

1. Mr. Truman said at his news conference late yesterday that he had ordered an inquiry into the radio programs. The President said he wants to find out who was at fault for the type of broadcast beamed to Latin America. But he noted the programs were not handled by the State department. They had been "farmed out" by the department to the National Broadcasting company.

2. A House expenditures committee headed by Rep. Chenoweth (R-Colo.) scheduled a public hearing (9 a. m. EST) today. The group called as its first witness George V. Allen, assistant secretary of state in charge of the Voice of America broadcasts. These programs are intended to tell the world of the Democratic way of life in this country.

3. In the senate, where the fireworks started, two groups decided to pool their efforts and conduct a joint investigation.

One of these, an expenditures subcommittee, already has laid the groundwork and has questioned NBC officials. It is headed by Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich), the senate's ace investigator.

Sanctioned by Committee

The other senate group is a foreign relations subcommittee headed by Sen. Smith (R-NJ), co-author of the bill which gave full legal sanction to the voice programs. Previously they had been carried out under the President's war powers.

The furore over the programs was touched off when Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.) read to the senate excerpts of broadcasts beamed late in 1947 and early this year to South and Central America.

HOLIDAY WEATHER TO BE NEAR NORMAL

Near normal weather is predicted for the long weekend holiday and all indications point to a heavy volume of traffic over the airlines, highways and railroads from today through Monday, The Associated Press reported.

Cooler weather is forecast for Saturday and Sunday for Ohio with a rise in temperature Monday and Tuesday. Showers are predicted for Saturday and again on Tuesday, the United Press reports. Total rainfall will near one-half inch the forecast states.

Millions of motorists will crowd the nation's highways and with favorable weather, vacation spots and resort areas will attract many. The annual Memorial day race at the Indianapolis speedway will draw thousands who will travel to the Indiana capital by rail and motor. Passengers on the New York Central railroad system will have shuttle service between the speedway and union

Delays Hearing On Rail Strike

Judge Postpones Until June 10 Legal Battle Between U.S. and Unions.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 28—Judge T. Alan Goldsborough today postponed until June 10 a legal battle between the government and three railroad unions over whether a ban against a threatened rail strike should be continued.

Goldsborough at the same time extended until June 11 a temporary order preventing the unions from walking out.

This order, signed by Goldsborough on May 10 and already extended once, would have expired tomorrow night. The three unions and the justice department consented to the new extension of the temporary ban.

Goldsborough gave no reason for postponement of the case. The justice department is seeking an injunction that would prevent a strike indefinitely—or rather, as long as the railroads stay under government seizure.

The government took over the railroads May 10 when Goldsborough issued the temporary ban against the strike the three unions had set for May 11.

The Unions—the Locomotive Engineers, Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and Switchmen—filed a motion yesterday to kill the existing ban on the ground that Goldsborough had no right to issue it and President Truman had no right to order seizure of the railroads.

Today Goldsborough ruled that this motion shall be deemed the unions' answer to the government motion to continue the injunction.

He gave the justice department until June 5 to file briefs opposing the union motion. He gave the unions until June 9 to file a reply to the government briefs.

Temporary restraining orders, which are issued without hearing, can be extended only once without consent of the defendants.

The unions' consent to today's extension was made with the understanding that it does not in any way affect their contentions that the order is illegal. The justice department also consented to Goldsborough's order.

Whitney Endorses U.S. Rail Control Plan

By The United Press

NEW YORK, May 28—Alexander F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, today endorsed a proposal that the government take over the nation's railroads on a permanent basis for the sake of greater efficiency and labor peace.

Whitney suggested the roads could be bought on the open market for $15,500,000,000 and that the government could issue 3 per cent bonds to finance the purchase.

Although his organization is not one of the three operating brotherhoods at present enjoined from striking, Whitney thus brought the Railroad Trainmen in line with the Railway Labor Executives association which suggested the nationalization plan on Tuesday.

255 ENTRIES FILED IN MERCHANDISE CONTEST

A total of 255 entry blanks were returned to the office of the Marion Chamber of Commerce following last night's "scrambled merchandise" derby conducted by 40 local stores. The entries will be judged by members of the Marion chapter, National Secretaries association, Tuesday night and a report of the winners published Wednesday, the sponsors announced.

Crowds of persons joined those entering the contest and a great deal of interest was manifested in the derby, observers reported today.

MacArthur Proposes Later Return To U. S.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 28—Gen. Douglas MacArthur said today he does not want to return to the United States until after the Republican national convention.

The allied supreme commander in Japan so advised Chairman Bridges (R-NH) of the senate appropriations committee in a cablegram. The committee had voted 17-2 to ask him to return from Tokyo and testify on economic matters in the Pacific area.

MacArthur told Bridges "my return at this time, however sincere its purpose, would be misunderstood and condemned by many as politically inspired * * *."

MacArthur added:

"On the other hand, following settlement of the political issues to be resolved next month, "I should feel free to place myself fully at your disposal if you still desire clarification of my views on this or any other matter affecting the public interest."

Bridges said "I can see his point of view on this thing." Bridges said he would place MacArthur's reply before the full appropriations committee as soon as possible.

The general has long been mentioned as a possible Republican presidential nominee. The boom for him grew louder after the senate committee's vote yesterday.

Opposition Votes Explained

Both of those who voted against asking the occupation commander of Japan to come home after more than 10 years in the Philippines and points west said they did so because of the political atmosphere.

Senator Saltonstall (R-Mass) said he fears the visit is "bound to have political implications." He added:

"I want to keep the ECA as free from politics as I can."

One of the topics MacArthur will be questioned about if he comes home is the foreign aid program being carried out under the economic cooperation administration—better known as ECA.

Just about everybody interested —here and in Tokyo—expected the general to accept the invitation.

He sent his secret reply from Tokyo early today, addressed both to Chairman Bridges of the appropriations committee and to Secretary of the Army Royall, who relayed the committee request.

TOKYO, May 28—Many close observers at General MacArthur's headquarters speculated today that he has accepted an invitation to return to the United States.

That interpretation was placed upon his announcement that he was leaving the release of his reply to officials in Washington.

Only One Day Left For "Men of Erie" Essays

Tomorrow is the final day for high school students of Marion county to submit essays for the "Men of Erie" contest. The essays are to be taken or mailed to the office of the Marion Chamber of Commerce, 116 North State street. Writers of the two essays chosen as the best by three judges selected by heads of the schools will be guests of the Erie Railroad Co., in cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce, on a three-day vacation in New York City with all expenses paid. The contest is open to high school students of the Marion city schools, the Marion parochial schools and the Marion county schools. Essays are to be not more than 1,000 words in length.

Stranahan Reaches British Golf Finals

By The Associated Press

SANDWISH, England, May 28 — Charlie Stowe of England defeated Willie Turnesa of White Plains, N. Y., 1 up, in the semi-finals of the British amateur golf championship today and will meet Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O., in tomorrow's 36-hole final over the Royal St. George's links. Stranahan reached the final by eliminating Dennis Martin, a London stock broker, 3 and 1, after being held all square to the turn.

TWO AWARDS WON BY MARION STUDENT

Charles C. Roberts Takes Top Honor at DePauw.

Charles C. Roberts, son of Mrs. Chester C. Roberts of 201 South Vine street and the late Mr. Roberts, yesterday was awarded the Guy Morrison Walker Cup as the senior who has done the most for DePauw university at Green Castle, Ind., The Associated Press reported. He was also the winner of the Sigma Chi cup for the man combining the best scholastic and athletic records, according to the dispatch.

Mr. Roberts was graduated from Harding High school in 1942, finishing in the upper third of his class. He was active in sports here three years, ending his high school career as captain of the 1941-'42 basketball team. Prior to his entrance to DePauw, he served two and a half years with the Navy.

President of the student body this year, Roberts is a member of Gold Key, senior men's honorary, and Delta Kappa Epsilon, social fraternity. He holds letters in football, basketball and track.

OWU HEAD TO BE NAMED NEXT FRIDAY

Dr. Sherwood Flemming Expected To Get Post.

By The United Press

CLEVELAND, May 28 — Dr. Sherwood Flemming, United States Civil Service commissioner, is expected to be made president of Ohio Wesleyan university next Friday, it was reported here today.

Harvey O. Yoder, of Lakewood, chairman of the Ohio Wesleyan board of trustees, denied Dr. Flemming's selection, but it was indicated trustees already have approved him although no official vote has been taken.

Dr. Flemming, 43, would be the youngest president in the history of the Methodist institution and would fill the post vacated a year ago by Dr. H. J. Burgstahler.

A native of Kingston, N. Y., and an Ohio Wesleyan graduate of 1927, Dr. Flemming went from Ohio Wesleyan to a faculty post at American university in Washington from where he later moved into U. S. government service. He has served on a large number of governmental commissions and boards, including the Labor Supply Board, Manpower Survey Board and the War Manpower Commission, all of them wartime agencies. He was awarded a Doctor of Law degree by Wesleyan in 1941 and has been a member of the Civil Service Board since July 8, 1939.

Dr. Flemming is a member of the Methodist church and of the Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity.

Dr. Burgstahler resigned last June 8 to take a newly-created post of chancellor and director of a 10-year development program at Ohio Wesleyan. Acting president of the university is C. E. Ficken.

ARABS CAPTURE OLD HOLY CITY

Surrender of Jewish Quarter Announced; U.S. Backs Plan To Stop War.

By The Associated Press

AMMAN, TRANS-JORDAN, May 28—It was announced officially here today that the Jewish quarter of the Old City of Jerusalem has surrender to King Abdullah's Arab legion.

Fewer than 400 Jewish fighters had been holding a last thin line against the Arab onslaught behind the walls of the Old City.

The Jewish fighters took cover yesterday in three stone houses beneath the south wall. Arab foot troops were sent in to root them out, after the Legionnaires had captured and occupied the great Hurva Synagogue, long a stronghold of the Jews.

(The Israeli forces say they still hold most of the modern city of Jerusalem, outside the walls.)

Jews Report Gains In Crucial Battle

By The Associated Press

CAIRO, May 28—The Jewish army announced its forces seized two Arab villages in the blazing battle for Latrun, which advices from Jerusalem indicated today might be the decisive fight for Palestine.

The battle rose in intensity. Thousands of Arabs and Jews are reported engaged in the struggle to control the key road from Tel Aviv to Jerusalem.

The Jews said they captured Beit Jiz and Beit Sasun, just south of the highway and Latrun, which is 15 miles west of Jerusalem. In Tel Aviv, Jewish military security guarded the details of the battle.

MINE RESCUE FIGHT FAILS

Last of Three Trapped Men Found Dead in Pennsylvania Coal Pit.

By The United Press

SCRANTON, Pa., May 28—The last of three miners trapped 200 feet underground by a rockfall was brought out dead by rescue workers early today.

The body of Anthony Brezak, 34, Pittston, was found crushed beneath tons of rock and coal by the volunteer workers who dug frantically for more than 24 hours in a futile effort to reach him alive.

Brezak died beneath a second rockfall last night without learning that his two companions, William Ambrose, 53, Avoca, and Julius Pitarra, 27, Duryear, were killed in the cave-in which first engulfed them Wednesday.

The three men were loading coal in the Heidelberg Coal Co. mine when the first slide occurred. Rescue workers rapidly dug through 150 tons of debris to find Ambrose's crushed body. A few minutes later they heard Brezak tapping against the wall of his narrow tomb. Then came his muffled voice:

"Hurry up and get me out. I'm alive, but pinned down."

As the rescuers redoubled their efforts, Brezak asked about his two buddies. In order to buoy his spirits the workers told him they were all right.

Less than 30 tons of rock and coal separated the trapped man from the rescue crews when the second slide occurred and Brezak's voice was silenced.

The weary rescuers, refusing to quit although all hope for the victims was abandoned, reached the bodies of Brezak and Pitarra shortly before last midnight. They telephoned the tragic news to the crowds waiting for word at the mine entrance.

It required several hours before the bodies could be brought to the surface, however. The rescuers had to shore up the walls of the pits to prevent further rockfalls before recovering the bodies.

ESTRANGED HUSBAND CARRIES OUT THREAT OF FAMILY TRAGEDY

A Marion father of two daughters, apparently distraught over domestic difficulties, drove himself and his children to their deaths before a speeding Erie passenger train at the Five Points crossing at 3:27 p. m. yesterday. The crossing, on route 98, is five miles east of Marion.

Dead are Charles M. Gerstenlauer, 40, of 134 Olney avenue and his daughters, Sandra, 3, and Gay Lou, aged 2.

The tragedy was the climax to a series of events yesterday stemming from a divorce suit filed May 20 by Mrs. Elsie Gerstenlauer, 38, wife of the dead man and mother of the children.

Deputy Sheriff Ed Fink said investigation indicated Gerstenlauer deliberately drove into the path of the train after telephoning his wife that he intended to do away with himself and the children.

The call was made from a filling station and lunch room at Five Points, not more than 300 yards from the scene of the crash.

After receiving the call Mrs. Gerstenlauer notified her attorney, Frank Wiedemann, who advised her to report the incident to authorities. She did this and at the time of the tragedy a search was under way by city police, sheriff's deputies and the state highway patrol. The search ended when a call was received at the patrol and sheriff's office reporting the accident.

Gerstenlauer had taken the children from the Olney avenue home yesterday afternoon in violation of a court order. He had been ordered not to molest the family at the time the divorce suit was filed.

Yesterday morning Mrs. Gerstenlauer had him called into common pleas court on a contempt citation, claiming he had violated the order. Early in the afternoon Gerstenlauer took the children from the home, which also houses the Acme Dry Cleaning plant which he operated.

This was a matter of an hour or more before Mrs. Gerstenlauer received the phone call in which she said her husband threatened to "do away" with himself and the children.

Coroner's Verdict

Marion County Coroner, Dr. E. H. Morgan, in his verdict today said, "All evidence points to a suicide on the part of the father. My verdict is that the father died by suicide and that the two children died as a result of an auto collision with a train deliberately planned by the father."

The train, traveling at 70 miles an hour, hit the car dead center. Gerstenlauer's body was thrown from the car 200 feet from the crossing. The children were found in the auto, which was smashed against the front of the engine, when the train stopped three-fourths of a mile from the crossing.

Several persons who saw the diesel passenger locomotive strike the car gave dramatic accounts of the tragedy.

Accounts of Witnesses

Kenneth Carpenter, 53, Marion Engineer Depot guard, of near Five Points, an eye witness to the tragedy, was driving the car immediately behind the Gerstenlauer's at the crossing when the tragedy occurred.

"I had left my home only three minutes before," Carpenter said," and was hurrying to work at the depot. I live a mile and three quarters from the crossing and I was making pretty good time because I was a little late. I saw this car, (Gerstenlauer's) in front of me, apparently standing at the crossing. While still a good piece from the tracks I saw the train coming and I could see that the driver still had plenty of time to cross safely but he seemed awfully cautious. When I got up behind he drove his car between the westbound track and a spur track there and stopped again. The engineer evidently saw him for he had been blowing his whistle for over a mile back. When the train was only about 100 feet away he drove his car right onto the tracks and it looked like he stopped. The engineer never had a chance. He hit him right in the middle. The whole thing was so horrible I haven't yet told my family, they don't know there has been a wreck or that I saw it happen."

Foreman Saw Car

John E. Dalry, foreman of an Erie signal repair crew who was working at the crossing said: "It all happened so fast. My crew and I were working on a signal installation here by the crossing and when I looked up from what I was doing I heard one of the crew men yell at me. I saw this car setting between the spur track and the westbound and saw him pull forward. He was stopped dead between the two tracks and then pulled right into the path of the train.

"I didn't see the actual smash. We were too close and I thought sure the car would hit us if the engine threw it. After the train stopped it was an awful sight around there. I almost stepped on him (Gerstenlauer) where he was lying in the grass along the right of way. We found part of his trousers on the side of the car. All that was left on him was his left pants leg and his hip pocket with his wallet in it."

"I noticed him driving back and forth over the crossing a couple times before that afternoon while we were working there. I also saw him drive over to the service station a couple of times. I thought it odd that he should be driving back and forth over the same piece of road. He wasn't going far each trip. He turned around up the road some place and came back a couple of times.

Engineer's Account

Charles H. Lowe, 66, engineer of the Erie Lake Cities Express described the crash in this way:

"I've been an engineer 32 years but I never saw anything like it in my life. I was heading eastbound at about 70 miles an hour. It's pretty flat out there and you can see a good piece. I saw a car approach the crossing from the south about three quarters of a mile ahead but he was stopped well back. I already had the whistle cord down when I saw this car to the south.

"I saw then two cars to the north of the tracks, this front one was pretty close in, so I held the whistle on and gave four short blasts and then held it on again. At the whistling post a quarter mile from the crossing I still had the whistle on and I could see this signal crew working by the tracks and this car in close with another car well behind it. I was about 200 feet from the crossing hitting 70 when I saw this car start to pull across into the tracks. I threw the air brakes into emergency but there wasn't a chance. While we were about 75 feet away I could see he had stopped dead center of the tracks. I felt the engine hit the car and saw the gravel and glass fly out to the side.

"I knew for sure we had hit him and as soon as I got the train stopped I sent the fireman back to flag the westbound track thinking we had knocked the car into the right of way. As soon as he got down the steps of the engine to go back he called up to me, 'Charlie, we don't have to go back, it's all right here.' I got down then and saw the car with the two little girls still in it plastered up on the front of that diesel.

Terrible Sight

"It was the awfulest thing I've ever seen in almost 40 years of railroading. I've been riding engines when they hit cars before, even hit people walking but when I saw those two little girls it really hit me.

"We backed the engine up then to get the car off the front and get the little girls out. We only had seven cars on yesterday and the shorter a train is the harder it is to stop because you have less braking surface but if I'd had 500 cars yesterday it wouldn't have helped because this driver deliberately waited until we were too close to him before he drove on the tracks and stopped."

At 3:10 p. m. Gerstenlauer drove into the Five Points lunch room and filling station near the crossing and directed Virgil Sellers, 35, the proprietor, to put a dollar's worth of gas in the car and asked if the station had a phone inside. Sellers said there was a phone. He paid Sellers for the gas and walked into the station.

Mrs. Goldie Sellers of 314 Willow street, Seller's sister-in-law said, "He was a nice clean cut chap, so good looking you just had to notice him. He was very pleasant. He asked for a coke and inquired where the phone was. I showed him the phone and got his coke. He tried the phone but it was busy. Mr. Sellers came in then and he asked him if this was a party line. Mr. Sellers told him there were only about 12 or 15

LANCASTER PICTURE OPENS RUN IN MARION

"Green Grass of Wyoming" Here Seven Days.

"Green Grass of Wyoming," a 20th Century Fox production, parts of which were filmed at the Fairfield county fairgrounds at Lancaster last summer and which had its world premiere in that city this week, opened a seven-day engagement at the Ohio theater here today.

In the lobby of the theater is a display of pictures taken at the premiere by Robert Slatzer, one of several Marion residents to attend the Lancaster activities. Mr. Slatzer worked for the Hollywood studio in the filming of the Lancaster scenes, having been employed as an assistant to Louis King, director.

One of the scenes in the film is that in which a harness race driver crashes into a fence. The man who took the part of this driver was Ed Dunwoody, well known in Marion as a sulky driver in the Grand Circuit races held every summer.

Paul MacPherson, who was in Marion in 1943 as technical advisor on the film, "Home in Indiana," parts of which were filmed at the Marion county fairgrounds, also worked in Lancaster on "Green Grass of Wyoming" in the same capacity.

"Green Grass of Wyoming," adapted from the third in a series of novels written by Mary O'Hara, stars Peggy Cummins, Charles Coburn, Robert Arthur, Lloyd Nolan and Burl Ives. Both Miss Cummins and Mr. Coburn were in Lancaster for the premiere, along with Martha Stewart, also a movie actress.

Gov. Thomas J. Herbert and Ohio's Sen. John W. Bricker participated with Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney of Wyoming in a flag raising ceremony the morning of the premiere. Among the notables attending the premiere were former Ohio governors Frank J. Lausche, George White and Myers Y. Cooper.

Roving Reports

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

THERE'S a great to-do in the world over what to do with the old folks.

The population is growing older, but the cry goes up there's no place anymore for old people.

Since everybody moved to the city, we don't need grandpa anymore to fetch water from the well. We turn on the faucet. There's no chimney corner left for grandma, 'cause the fireplace is only colored glass now. And it's cheaper to hire a baby-sitter by the hour than keep poor widowed Aunt Agatha around the homestead.

Hal Boyle

If there's no place for the old folks at home, how about industry? Nope, the workman approaches the age of 40 with a feeling of personal guilt. He lives in fear some straw boss will hand him the pink dismissal slip and invite him to try his nose for size on somebody else's grindstone.

This is the dismal picture many sociologists paint of the forlorn status left to the venerable survivors of today's three-ring civilization. Youth must be served, and the young buckoes seem to be taking all the sun.

But are they? Look at some of the oldsters who are still kicking up their heels, having fun and making laws or money.

A 68-YEAR-OLD ex-trapeze artist just fathered triplets in Manhattan, raising his present count of children to 35. A woman in Scranton, Pa., slid down a bannister to start her 102nd year. In New York state a one-legged widow past 90 put on an orchid and married a 37-year-old farmhand; said she'd rather have a strong young man than an old age pension any day. Why not?

The world is studded with gaffers and gals who've reached or passed the Biblical span of three score and ten and are still tops in their class. They're riding high in every field.

At 70 the ebony toes of Bill Bojangles Robinson have tapped out five million bucks, and he's still good for $4,000 a week or better.

Bernard Baruch —"old silvertop" the financier—is 77, and has more influence from a park bench than a dozen junior senators in congress.

Who are two of the greatest living oil salesmen in history? John D. Rockefeller, Jr., 74, and King Ibn Saud of Arabia, who is touchy over his age—but is beyond 70.

TWO OF THE WORLD'S newest states picked active septuagenarians to head them in rough times—Dr. Chaim Weizmann, 73, provisional president of Palestine, and Mahomed Ali Jinnah, 72, governor general of Pakistan.

Prime Minister Themistocles Sophoulis of Greece is 87, King Haakon VII of Norway 76, King Gustav V of Sweden is a well-preserved 90. And the new Italian republic just picked 74-year-old Luigi Einaudi for its first president.

Still wearing well in the British empire are Queen Mother Mary, able at 81 to go to every vicar's tea party in England; Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada, 73; Field Marshal Jan Christiaan Smuts, prime minister of South Africa, 78; and that vocal thorn in the side of British socialism, Winston Churchill, a memorable 73.

High in the literary and musical worlds are such figures as George Bernard Shaw, Broadway's highest paid dramatist at 91; Somerset Maugham, 74; Arturo Toscanini, 81; composer Jean Sibelius of Finland, 83; Carl Sandburg, 70; Robert Frost, 73.

AN ENDLESS ROLL call could be made of old codgers, boy and girl, who are still busy making good in America. A few:

Connie Mack, who was born in the Civil war and at 85 has a good chance to win the American league pennant; labor leader William Green, 75; Thomas J. Watson, 74, of international business machines, rated the nation's highest paid corporation executive ($600,000 some years); lawyer Samuel Seabury, who helped fumigate Tammany Hall and is still seeking civic purity at 75.

Even Hollywood has its oldtimers. Victor Moore, 72, is looking for one more good musical comedy to retire on. Lionel Barrymore, 70, has outlived several young Dr. Kildares and is busy on the radio, too.

What do they mean there's no place for the old folks?

The truth is the old folks are proving every day the world would go to pot without them. There's really only one job left where an ambitious young man can feel safe from the competition of these antique go-getters.

That's the U. S. supreme court. The oldest of its nine young men is Felix Frankfurter, a mere lad of 65.

CROWNING CEREMONY TO BE HELD SUNDAY

St. Mary School Pupils' Annual Program Arranged.

Children of St. Mary school will close the month of May with the annual May Crowning ceremony in St. Mary church Sunday afternoon, at 4 o'clock.

Students will march in procession, carrying flowers to be placed on the altar of Our Lady. This year the girls will wear blue shoulder-length veils. Graduates in cap and gown will immediately precede the May queen, Claudine Scranton, and her attendant, Ann McGinnis. Miss Scranton, in white veil and gown, will crown the statue of Our Lady and Miss McGinnis, in blue, will carry the crown.

The entire student body will renew their Act of Consecration to the Blessed Virgin Mary after the ceremony of crowning. Father Hugh Murphy will give the address. The service will close with Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

HOSTESS TO CLASS

Mr. and Mrs. Cloyd Stauffer and Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Kirkpatrick were hosts and hostesses for a meeting of the CIB class of the First Evangelical and Reformed church Thursday night at the church. Devotions were conducted by Mrs. George Chase and the meeting was in charge of William Warner. Pictures were shown for the program. A picnic will be held at the next meeting, June 20.

Company Installs Its Millionth Telephone

Its millionth telephone was installed May 19 by the General Telephone System of which the Ohio Associated Telephone Company of Marion is a part. The system, headed by General Telephone Corporation, comprises the largest group of operating telephone companies in the United States, outside the Bell System.

C. E. Williams, general manager of the Ohio Associated Telephone Company, said the millionth installation had been made in Wisconsin by Commonwealth Telepho. Company, also a part of the General Telephone System. The instrument was installed in the home of Jack Pierick, living in the farming community of Richland Center which is the same area where the General Telephone System started.

General Telephone System traces its history back to 1920 when there were about 1,554 telephones in service in five small Wisconsin communities. Today General Telephone operates 1,022 exchanges in 19 states. Ohio Associated Telephone Company operates 135 exchanges, serving 66,874 customers. It became a part of the General Telephone System in 1933.

LEGION POST AT MARENGO ARRANGES MAY 31 EVENTS

MARENGO, May 28—Following the custom established last year, Marengo Memorial post No. 110 of the American Legion will hold its Memorial day services next Monday at 10 a. m. at the Marengo Methodist church.

Prof. J. F. Smith of Otterbein college will give the memorial address. Prof. Smith was graduated from Otterbein at Westerville in 1910 and obtained his master's degree at Ohio State. He has taught speech at Otterbein for 30 years, and for 20 years was a high school superintendent. His services were obtained by Past Commander Paul Dudley of the Marengo post, a student in one of his classes.

Members of the post will assemble on the church lawn and march to the seats reserved for them at 10 o'clock sharp. A front row has been reserved for the Gold Star parents of the six boys from the community who gave their lives. They boys were James Howison, Gordon Crowl, Guy Liggett, Eirlis Dye, Bailey Travis and Robert Addison. Six girls will carry lighted candles to the altar as the names of the six heroes are called by Post Commander Dale Carsner. They are Rita Porter, Charlotte Mason, Judy and Joyce Ann Kirby, Shirley Rowlen and Lois Ann Florence.

Commander Carsner will be assisted in the ceremonies by Past Commander Paul Dudley, vice commanders Clyde Park and Art Kenny, adjutant, Homer Rogers, Ted Camp, and by Howard Dunham, chaplain.

Boy Scouts will usher at the church, and take charge of flowers at the cemetery. Following the ceremony at the church, post members will march to the street and take parade formation. The parade will be lead by the Chesterville school band.

The public is cordially invited to both the church and cemetery ceremonies and may drive to the Marengo cemetery in the parade. At the cemetery flowers will be massed in the name of America's war dead of all wars. A firing squad will fire a three-volley salute ot the dead. Bob Shugert will blow taps, signifying the end of the day to all service men and women.

Color bearers Marion Park and Dick Evans will be escorted by color guardsmen, Dick Bane, and Delbert Matson.

The firing squad is composed of Clyde Park, commander; Fred Stover, Art Kenny, Bill Mead Jr., Junior Summit, Jim Butler, Ed Robson, Charles Tharp and Allen Clark.

Monday afternoon, the post color bearers and guard and the firing squad will assist the Chesterville post in its ceremonies.

FOUR RURAL SERVICES SET

Sunday To Be Memorial Day at Green Camp, LaRue, Claridon, Salem.

Four Marion county communities and churches have arranged Memorial Day services for Sunday afternoon. They are Green Camp, LaRue, Claridon Methodist church and the Marion Rural Salem Evangelical United Brethren church.

At Green Camp a parade will precede the services at the Green Camp cemetery. The parade is scheduled to get under way at 2 p. m. at the band stand. From town, the parade will go to the Mt. Olive cemetery, where band numbers and a prayer will follow decorating of graves. The group will then return to Green Camp cemetery for the memorial service.

Speaker will be Rev. Merlin Probst of Galion, who served as a chaplain in the U. S. Army during World War II and is a member of the faculty of the Green Camp school. Music will be by the high school band. Serving on the committee in charge of arrangements for the memorial observance are Grover Bosart, Mrs. Edwin Schwaderer, Thomas Finch and Norman Roettger.

The memorial address in the services at the LaRue cemetery at 2 p. m., in charge of Phillippi Clement Post No. 101, American Legion, of LaRue, will be delivered by A. B. McDaniel of Montpelier, O., grand chef de gare of the 40 et 8 of Ohio. Special musical numbers will be presented and Rev. C. A. Hutchison, pastor of the LaRue Methodist church and Father Cleary of St. Joseph's Catholic church in LaRue will take part in the program.

Members of the Legion will decorate the graves of all soldiers in the 12 cemeteries in and around LaRue Sunday morning. A special memorial service at the LaRue Catholic church will be held at 11 a. m.

Those planning to decorate the graves will meet at the fire department at 7:30 a. m. The Richwood marching band, directed by Marvin Fogt, will furnish music for the parade which will form at 1:30 p. m. and go to the cemetery for the exercises. The Legion and auxiliary will attend the services at the Baptist church in a body Sunday morning. The sermon will be by the pastor, Rev. Lowell Parish.

Memorial Day will be observed at the Claridon Methodist church during the morning worship hour at 11 o'clock. Included in the program will be hymns by the congregation, memorial readings, vocal solo by Miss Peggy Clary, and a memorial address, by the pastor, Rev. Arthur M. Bosler. The graves of all veterans will be decorated immediately following the service and flags will be placed on the graves of all soldiers.

Guest speaker at the memorial services at 10:30 a. m. at the Rural Salem Evangelical United Brethren church will be Rev. C. W. Ruhlman of Columbus. Music will be provided by the Claridon band and Rev. W. B. Smith, pastor, will assist in the services.

Your Good Health

Preventing Pretmature Births

When life begins too soon, death wins easy victories. The baby born before the usual time must receive very special care if he is to survive. The less he weighs, the harder he is to care for. The more immature he is, the less he is fitted for independent life.

Even with all the resources of modern science — incubators to keep them warm, special devices and procedures to guard them against infections, and that best of all baby foods, mother's milk—it is impossible to save all these prematurely-born infants. Thus, everything possible should be done to keep babies from being born before the full term of pregnancy has elapsed.

Some special studies on women who repeatedly gave birth to premature babies, have been made by Dr. Eleanor Delfs, of Johns Hopkins School of Medicine. She concluded that many such women were suffering from lack of thyroid secretion. In almost three-fourths of the patients studied by her, such a deficiency was noted. Some of them also lacked certain of the secretions from the sex glands, and vitamin E.

When there is a lack of thyroid secretion, it is suggested that thyroid extract be given, starting three or four months before pregnancy occurs, and that it be continued throughout the term of pregnancy. Failure to begin treatment with the thyroid extract early enough may account for some of the failures and disappointments with this form of treatment.

Of course, in those cases in which there is a lack of sex gland secretions or vitamin E, these things must also be supplied.

In addition to treatment with gland extracts, it would appear inadvisable for these women to engage in vigorous sports, strenuous activities, or hard work. On the other hand, ordinary household duties and similar occupations are permissible. It is important that over-tiredness and fatigue be avoided. Long periods of rest in bed are apparently not necessary.

Proof of the success of this treatment is found in the fact that 39 women who had previously had 155 pregnancies, with only 12 living babies had 29 live babies in 43 pregnancies after treatment with the thyroid extract.

Any woman who repeatedly gives birth to premature infants should, of course, consult her physician for careful study and treatment.

Questions and Answers

M. R.: I work at night under fluorescent lights and always seem to have a headache. What is causing this?

Answer: It is not likely that the lights are responsible for the headache. Headaches may be due to many causes, such as infections, a circulatory disturbance, allergy, eyestrain or constipation.

A thorough study by a physician to determine the cause of the headaches would be advisable.

GALION PLANT POLL AGREEMENT FAILS

Special to The Star

GALION, May 28—Little or no progress resulted from the conference at the North Electric Manufacturing company plant Thursday morning in an attempt to reach an agreement to hold an early election to determine the bargaining agent for workers at the company's Galion and Mt. Gilead plants.

The conference was held with [illegible] C. Finley, field examiner for the National Labor Relations board's regional office in Cleveland, and representatives of the Independent Workers union of the Mt. Gilead and Galion plants, representatives of the United Auto Workers (CIO), and company officials.

Both the IWU and the UAW have claimed a majority of workers in their membership.

After settlement of a strike which was conducted at the Galion plant by the UAW-CIO last August to Nov. 1, the Independent Workers union have claimed a majority of workers as members and petitioned the NLRB for an election to determine the bargaining agent for employes.

Although a cross-check held at the conclusion of the strike showed a majority for the UAW at the time the strike was called, the strike agreement between the company and the UAW, provided that negotiations between the company and union would cease, when and if any group of employes of the company file and petition with the NLRB claiming majority representation of any alleged appropriate unit.

Finlay said that the NLRB hoped to settle the dispute but would not certify an election until unfair labor practice charges have been cleared. He said the company failed to drop its charges against the UAW union, and that while the UAW was willing to drop its charges against the company, other issues were raised concerning what employes would be eligible to vote in an election.

Order's Candidates At Bucyrus Event

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, May 28 — Forty candidates were among the visitors present today for the annual inspection of Gwynn council No. 83, Royal and Select Masters of Bucyrus. Visitors came from Bellevue, Upper Sandusky and Galion.

The Royal Select degree was exemplified at 4 p. m. and the Super Excellent degree is scheduled for 8 o'clock tonight following a dinner for candidates and members.

Clarence Lucas of Zanesville, grand officer of the Ohio order, acted as inspecting officer.

PLACES TO CLOSE MONDAY

UPPER SANDUSKY — Court house offices, municipal offices, the post office, factories, elevators, professional offices and many stores will be closed here Monday in observance of Memorial day. A midget auto race program at the fairground will start at noon.

DIPLOMAS PRESENTED 99 GALION SENIORS

Special to The Star

GALION, May 28—"Nothing takes the place of good, hard work," Cameron Beck, internationally renowned speaker who for 22 years was personnel director of the New York Stock exchange and director of the exchange institute, told the 99 seniors who received their diplomas during commencement exercises at Galion Senior High school Thursday night.

Stressing the old fundamentals for a successful life, the speaker emphasized four great needs for successful living: the need of a plan; need of a purpose; need for perseverance; and a passion for right living. Mr. Beck was acclaimed as one of the best speakers to appear here in recent years. This was his second appearance for a Galion High school class; he appeared here 19 years ago. Robert Beegle, class president, introduced the speaker.

Miss Dorothy McMannigell, 17, one of a family of eleven, was recognized by Supt. Marion E. Shank as having the highest scholastic standards in her class for her entire four years of high school work. Her name will be the third to be placed on the Heiser plaque at the high school.

In presenting the class, Supt. Shank also recognized the seniors who recently were elected to membership in the National Honor society.

The class was presented to Earl Logan, member of the board of education, who distributed the diplomas to the graduates, including his daughter Beverly.

An organ prelude was played by Theodore Rehl, a 1948 graduate. He also played the processional "Pomp and Circumstance," by Elgar. Girls of the class wore white caps and gowns, the boys the traditional blue used for years by Galion High school.

Rev. Franklin J. Klohn had the invocation; Miss Barbara Haspeslagh, member of the class, played an organ number, and after the address Theodore Rehl played an organ selection. Rev. L. E. Guffey had the benediction. The organ postlude was played by Theodore Rehl.

LADDIE WINS HIS LIFE IN COURT. Laddie, a two-year old collie, on trial for his life in a Winsted, Conn., courtroom licks the face of his owner, Miss Barbara Scanlon, as Attorney Francis P. Pallotti (extreme left) and Miss Ruth Donohue of the Dog Welfare Association of Connecticut look on. The dog, charged with being vicious and dangerous because it had bitten a newspaper boy on the porch of the Scanlon home, was spared its life, but sentenced to a life of confinement and close supervision by the owner.

140 SCHOOL PATROL MEMBERS REWARDED

Special to The Star

GALION, May 28—For their faithful service during the last year, some 140 members of the School Patrol of the Galion and Mt. Gilead schools, were today presented with certificates of award and miniature patrol pins by the Galion Automobile club, sponsor of the School Safety Patrol in Galion. The presentation was made as a part of the last-day-of-school activities.

The school patrol members who daily protect their school chums from injury and possible death have been highly commended by both school and city officials for their excellent work and devotion to duty. Safety patrol members have been on duty at street crossings in school zones where it would not be possible to have police protection for the school children.

In Galion the school patrol has an enviable record, closing its eighteenth year without an accident in any school zone where the patrol has ben on duty. It was organized here 18 years ago by Grace Thomas, secretary of the Galion Automobile club. The automobile club supplies raincoats, belts, badges, safety posters and safety campaign work to the patrol during the school year. The club recently held a recognition party for the 140 members of the patrol of the Galion city and parochial schools and the Mt. Gilead schools.

The Inept "Voice"

THE VOICE of America again has embarrassed its supporters by broadcasting drivel that has aroused congressional anger.

It should be possible to broadcast an accurate picture of American history and life without injuring sectional pride and twisting the truth into unrecognizable shapes, but the Voice hasn't learned how. The latest sample of its scripts to come to congress' attention is full of half-truths, distortions and sorry attempts at coy humor. In an effort to write pithy, attention-holding material, the writers have done the Voice a disservice that couldn't have been surpassed had they set out deliberately to sabotage it.

The Voice came into being over strong opposition in and out of congress. Only the personal intervention of Secretary Marshall guaranteed it an adequate appropriation for the next fiscal year. The broadcasts were instituted to counter Russia's propaganda campaigns but their ineptness has aroused an antagonism at home that may outweigh their effectiveness abroad.

The latest broadcast script to arouse indignation was put on the air several months ago. Early this month, the Voice was placed in charge of Edwin R. Beattie, a highly competent and respected newspaperman. Mr. Beattie has his work cut out for him in restoring public and congressional confidence in the Voice.

Plain Talk from Vinegar Joe

THE LATEST set of war memoirs to be published are those of Gen. Stilwell. Set down in a peppery style that might best be described as American vulgate; these writings are the most outspoken of all that have appeared to date. Even after being toned down by a friendly editor they will ruffle feathers in high places.

Stilwell was a hardbitten old soldier with impatience for anything less than perfection. His dislikes were many. He notes that President Roosevelt received him "as if I were a constituent in to see him"; he found Harry Hopkins a "strange, gnomelike creature"; he respected Secretary Stimson; at first he disliked Lord Mountbatten but eventually conceded he was a good soldier "despite his long eyelashes"; he made no attempt to conceal his dislike for Gen. Chennault, Chiang Kai-shek and all the Navy brass.

Perhaps the most interesting section of the memoirs is his account of the days immediately following Pearl Harbor when Stilwell was charged with defense of a sector of the California. The hopeless confusion, the pitifully small inventory of military supplies (six tanks were in running condition), and the consternation caused by the persistent rumor that the main Japanese fleet was off San Francisco—all point to the fact that a small but efficient invasion force could have seized the west coast.

History's Darkest Horse

THERE will be more, not less, statements like Leon Henderson's insistence on replacing Mr. Truman with someone else before the Democratic national convention. Other radicals have been saying the same thing. Southern reactionaries are similarly interested in getting rid of Mr. Truman. Educated guessers say the big city Democratic organizations will join the fun when the time comes.

This would be easily understandable if the party's purpose were to commit political hara-kiri. But the same persons who are making it impossible for the party to survive, without some hocus-pocus of reincarnation, keep talking about a substitute for Mr. Truman to run in 1948—someone who will make voters forget Mr. Truman's unlovely fate and sweep his assassins back into power.

Whoever this is supposed to be is history's darkest horse—not just a sorrel, bay, dappled gray chestnut, roan, palomino, or even an ordinary black with two white forefeet. This is a darkhorse so dark that the drivers can't see it. They just grab the reins and yell, "Giddap!" Of course nothing happens, but they know there must be a dark horse out here somewhere. Surely they wouldn't be so stupid as to send the only horse they owned to the glue factory with nothing better in sight—or would they?

Hawaiian Statehood Loses Again

THE HAWAII statehood bill has been pigeonholed because of the senate's reluctance to discharge the measure from committee and bring it to the senate floor.

Both houses rarely approve discharge petitions and it is probable that senatorial courtesy rather than the merits of the issue led the senate to allow the bill to die. Even within the committee it lost by the close vote of 7 to 5. Now it will be necessary to re-institute the entire long procedure of house and senate hearings and investigations to bring up the matter again at the next session.

Hawaiian statehood proponents have had a long, discouraging experience and the end is not yet. There will be more committees visiting the islands; the same old statistics, slightly revised to be brought up to date, the same pro and con arguments. At the moment the only grain of hope that statehood supporters can find is that this time their hopes were closer to realization than ever before.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

New York and Ohio Political Mathematics.

THE GREEN BAY (Wisconsin) Press-Gazette, commenting on something written in this column, rises in revolt against New York and Ohio. The editor writes:

"Perhaps the rest of the country better tear itself loose from the influence of New York and Ohio unless it agrees fully with the purposes of the leaders of those states. We will have to come to an unpretty pass if we have to acknowledge that New York and Ohio must be pleased at a nomination lest they sulk in their tents."

SOKOLSKY

Correctly, the editor diagnoses the special characteristics of New York when he says.

"The New York effect has not always been good for this country. The city of New York naturally contains a high percentage of aliens because so many immigrants drop anchor immediately upon their arrival . . ."

Suppose we analyze this problem a little differently. New York, for many years, controlled the flow of capital in the United States. Much of that liquid capital flowed from Europe to the United States, from England, Holland, France and other countries of western Europe. Many of our railroads, mines and industries were financed by New York banks, utilizing European money. First Philadelphia and then New York exercised this great influence over the country because of this access to liquid capital.

No Morgan Monopoly

In recent years, for many reasons, such cities as Houston, Tex., Tulsa, Okla., Minneapolis, Minn., and Cleveland, O., have competed actively with New York. As a matter of fact, capital in the United States has become so diffused that such a house as J. P. Morgan and Company has lost the grip it once held on American life.

In the field of education, New York has exercised an astonishing influence, over the entire country. This has been due not only to the almost monopolistic hold of Teachers college of Columbia university upon advanced training in pedagogies, but also because so many of the textbooks are published by New York houses. All the leading national magazines, with the exception of the Philadelphia group, are published in New York or its suburbs. The radio networks originate mostly in New York, or Hollywood where a conglomeration of New Yorkers camp out. Some programs do come from Chicago or Detroit. The theater is strictly New York and those awful, tuneless songs are from Tin Pan Alley in New York.

Could Be Competition

True, New York is as different is attitude and spirit from the middle west as Boston is from San Antonio. But as long as the rest of the country takes it from New York, that city will prevail. In orchestral music, the country is in revolt against New York's pre-eminence. Some 30 or 40 symphony orchestras thrive in as many cities and some of them are equal to or even superior to New York's Philharmonic. There is no reason why that spirit of competition should not express itself in every field.

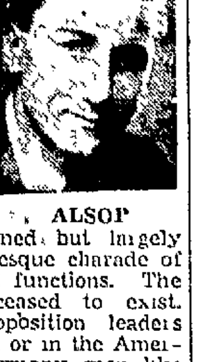
Now, to get down to politics, which started this argument, it was my suggestion that the atmosphere in New York and Ohio was such that if Harold Stassen were nominated by the Republicans, he could not carry those states and that without them the Republicans might be defeated. That has nothing to do with sentiment, it is a matter of arithmetic. New York has 47 electoral votes; Ohio, 25. Together, 72 out of 531. To win, the Republicans require a minimum of 266 votes. The solid South will give the Democrats 126 electors. To win their 266, the Republicans must accumulate the electoral vote in a large number of states because they do not start with a base of 126 votes. The largest states which can give them a good start are California, 25 electoral votes, New York, 47, Ohio, 25, Pennsylvania, 35. If the Republicans carry these four states they can offset the solid South. Take New York and Ohio out of these 132 electors, and the solid South is not offset. As a matter of fact, if the Republicans win three of those states but not New York, they would start with only 85 votes to offset the solid South. That is why these four states are as crucial to the Republicans as the solid South is to the Democrats.

The Twilight Terror: II

By Stewart Alsop

PRAGUE

LIKE all police states, Czechoslovakia is a country of rumors whispered behind closed doors: The rumor that the aging, sick, defeated Eduard Benes has been shot; the rumor (this is the most persistent) that the war between the Soviet Union and the West has started; the rumor (this is now current) that the Red Army will occupy Czechoslovakia tomorrow. Moreover it is extraordinarily difficult to separate the chaff of rumor from the wheat of fact.



ALSOP

Westerners are wholly isolated. Old friends, those who have not been jailed or have not escaped, prudently stay away. Contact of a sort with the new regime is maintained but largely through the grotesque charade of the large official functions. The opposition has ceased to exist. Such former opposition leaders as are not in jail or in the American zone of Germany, men like the courageous Socialist Vaclav Majer or Peter Zenkl, the National Socialist leader, are "unavailable"; they are followed everywhere by the agents of the OBZ, the latest addition to the dreary initials which began with the OGPU. Even the Socialist Bohumil Lausmann, who at first held out against the Communists, then joined the new regime and has now resigned. is closely watched. (He noticed this himself and telephoned Premier Klement Gottwald to protest indignantly. "We wanted to see what you were up to," Gottwald replied calmly to his former colleague.)

See Signs of Pattern

Thus Westerners, unless they are prepared to swallow wholesale the handouts of the regime, are reduced to speculation, to an attempt to deduce from the shape of the small visible portion of the iceberg the shape of the whole. Yet experienced observers now believe that they discern a general pattern emerging through the fog which obscures this newest of the police states.

The pattern is peculiarly interesting and it has a significance extending well beyond the borders of Czechoslovakia.

The new rulers of Czechoslovakia clearly fall into two groups. Call one group "the politicians," the other "the conspirators." In the end, according to those who have closely watched developments here, one group must destroy the other.

Typical of the politicians are Premier Gottwald, the foreign minister, Vladimir Klementis, and the minister of interior, Vaclav Nosek. These men are the chief public figures of the new regime as they were the chief public figures of the large Czechoslovak Communist party before the party seized power. Their backgrounds differ. Gottwald is a former worker who spent the war in Moscow. Nosek knows London well and was with the Czech government-in-exile, and Klementis was a small-time lawyer who has leaped from obscurity to power in the years since the war. Yet all three men have one thing in common, they are all politicians, and politicians in many ways in the Western sense of that abused word. They have gone before the people and appealed for votes. They have to some extent become, as any politicians must become, both gladhanders and compromisers. They have had to develop the gentle arts of political persuasion. In this sense, if in no other, they are far more "Western" than their conspiratorial colleagues. Despite his residence in Moscow, Gottwald is known to be, within limits, strangely reasonable; Nosek has a lively sense of humor, and Klementis has been known to deplore the excesses of the regime which he represents.

"Tough Conspirators"

Yet it is believed that such men as these three are less and less the real sources of power in the new regime. Typical of those who increasingly call the tune to which Czechoslovakia dances are Alexei Cepicha, the minister of justice (who has been jailed three times on criminal charges, once for rape); Rudolf Slansky, who as secretary general of the Communist party holds the Czech equivalent of Stalin's old job; Jindrich Vassilli, who is believed to hold the real power in Nosek's interior ministry, and Colonel Rietzin, chief of the intelligence in the OBZ. Although some have run for public office while Czechoslovakia was free, these men are essentially tough professional conspirators on the familiar Soviet-Communist pattern, rather than politicians. And whether or not they form the real government behind a Gottwald-Klementis-Nosek "shadow government" as some believe, there is little doubt that they hold an increasing share of the real power.

The chances are that they will hold more. Again there is only speculation, only a sense of the logic of the situation here to support this assumption. Yet again and again the reporter in this country hears the same phrases—"After the election, or maybe after the Sokol." (The parliamentary election is scheduled for Sunday, and the Sokol, a gymnastic exhibition, for July 4, 5 and 6.) Then according to widespread rumors, the present twilight terror will come to an end and the night of terror will descend, with mass trials, mass arrests, mass executions completing the pattern, already well begun, of the Soviet-dominated police state.

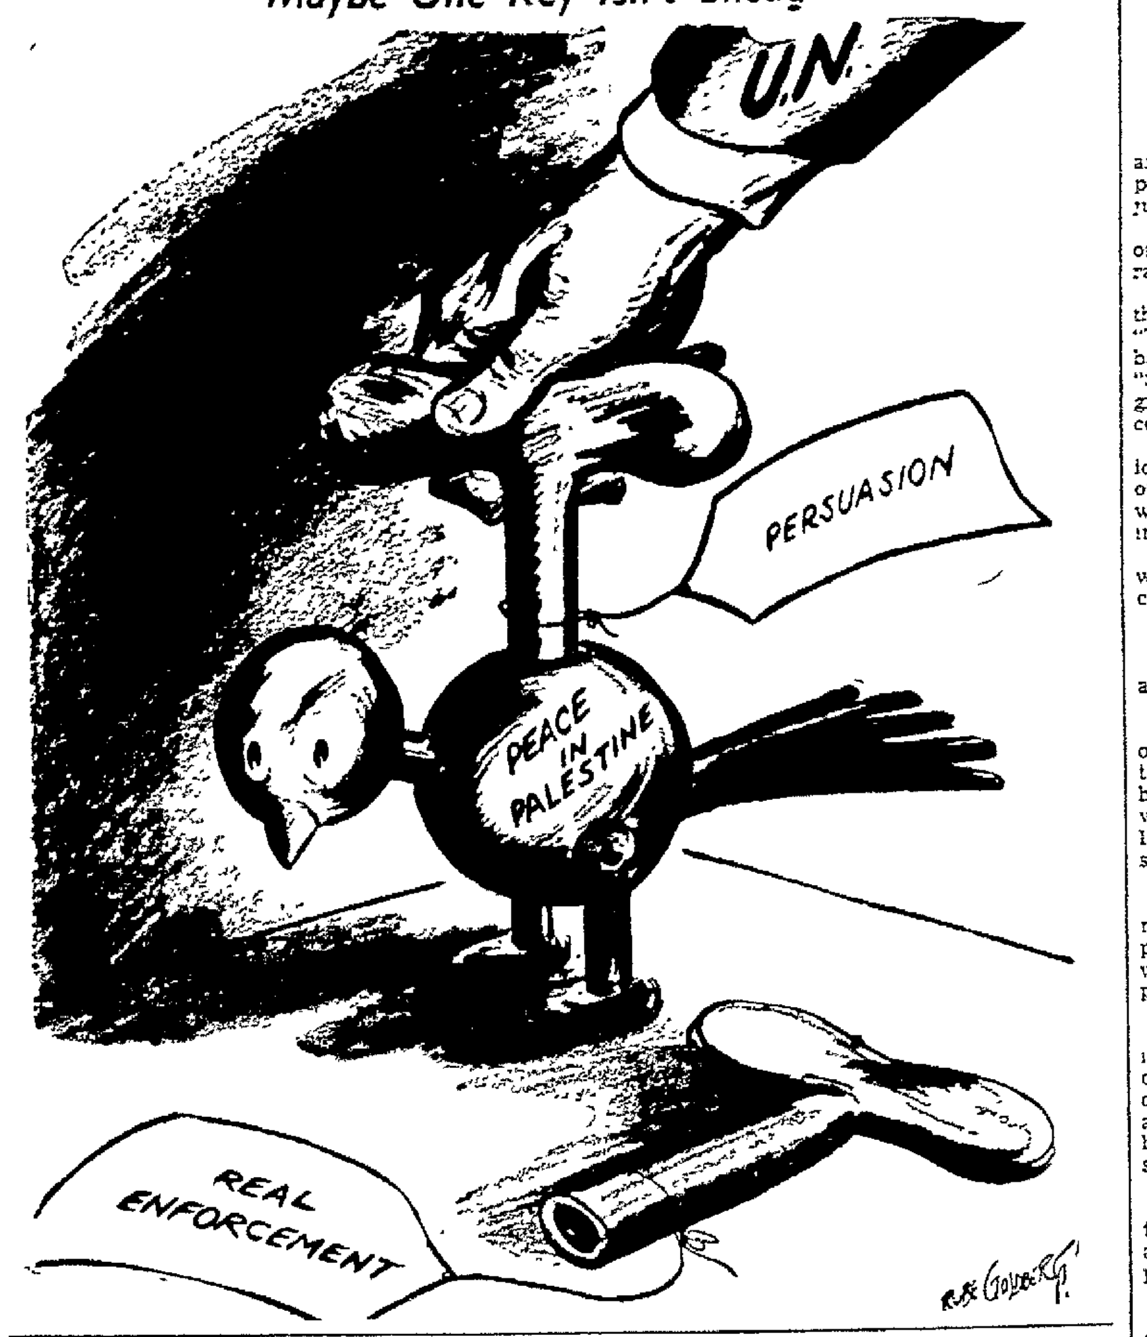
Living Cost Rise

Prices throughout most of the world rose more gradually after the start of World War II than after the start of World War I, an analysis made by the International Labor Office (ILO) reveals. Using 1939—the start of World War II—as one base year, and 1914—the start of World War I—as the other base year, the ILO survey shows the comparative price situation approximately three years after the end of each war.

In 15 of the 21 countries studied, the index of food, clothing and other basic household expenses rose more sharply from 1914 to 1929 than between the years 1939 and 1948.

For a resident of the United States, the cost of living at the end of February, 1948, was 69 per cent above the 1939 index. In 1920, a 100 per cent rise had been registered over 1914.

Maybe One Key Isn't Enough



From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Saturday, May 28, 1938.

Senate foes of the administration's lending-spending bill concentrated on efforts to tie up more than $400,000,000 of the proposed $865,0000,000 public works appropriation for specific flood control, rivers and harbors and army housing projects.

Mrs Anna L. Porter of Los Angeles, Calif. and Mrs. C. W. Welton of Durham, N C arrived to be the week-end guests of Mrs. Victor E. Dombaugh of East Church street.

Rigid diet rules were relaxed a bit so the Dionne quintuplets could enjoy ice cream on their fourth birthday anniversary. Candy still was banned and there was to be no frosting on their birthday cake.

It was announced that Miss Marguerite Queen of East Center street, a senior at Harding High school, had been awarded a scholarship to Flora Stone Mather college at Western Reserve university, Cleveland.

Miss Marion Wheeler became the bride of Bernard Harris in a ceremony at the First Presbyterian church.

Ivan Everett was reelected president at the annual meeting of the New Bloomington High school alumni held at Agosta.

Employes of the school savings department of the National City Bank & Trust Co. met for a potluck supper at the home of Miss Pearl Dildine on Chestnut street. Present were Misses Ruth Smart, Florence Zachman, Eileen Caldwell, Geraldine Cook, Thelma Traxler, Helen Needles and Mary Conroy and Harold Osmun and Garold Lessig.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Monday, May 28, 1928.

Building permits in the city were increasing, a report for the last week listing a total estimated construction cost of $7,385.

It was reported that 6,000 poppies were sold by the American Legion auxiliary in the annual sale Saturday, receipts totaling $606.

City council received a letter from the Maag Bros. Transit Co. accepting the franchise for operation of a city bus line following discontinuance of street car service in October.

U. A. Nystrom of Marion spoke at a meeting of the Columbus Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants in Columbus and was elected vice president.

Miss Ruby Kraft of South State street went to Dayton to attend the annual Senior Farewell dance of the University of Dayton.

Miss Lucile Goss of east of Marion went to Washington, D. C. to attend the graduation exercises of the nurses' training school of Walter Reed hospital where she had been graduated the preceding spring.

The new Oakland theater was formally opened with capacity crowds, the feature picture being "The Gaucho," starring Douglas Fairbands. The theater was under management of Reuben Maxson of Celina.

Playing to the Gimmes

By Frank Tripp

IN A shooting war we're tops, if there's glory in that. We've never been licked. We can conscript our youth and win, but not our diplomacy it seems.

A letter from an American who gets around, has been 20 years abroad, now is in Africa, says: "What in the world is the matter in the United States? Our statesmen and our country are laughing stocks everywhere I go. I am so lost for answers and so ashamed that I can hardly hold up my head."

TRIPP

What a catastrophe! When the richest, finest, freest land on earth is jeered by the very peoples whom we are asked to feed and make free — to the point that our own countrymen cannot hold up their heads in foreign lands.

It is a product of our own national life. We can pin the wilted rose on a philosophy which comes so close to Communism that it's frightening. We are deserting the franchise of our fathers. The thriftless are becoming government dependents and our politicians are coddling them for their votes. Respect-commanding, rugged Americanism has gone out the window.

There is in America, and has been since 1932, a concept preached to workers, in schools, in pink parlors by crackpot socialites and even from some pulpits, that gnaws at the very vitals of our freedoms. It is Communism's pal. It leads millions to think that the government owes them a living. It prompts office-seekers to encourage that hope.

It is the concept that the American way, our Constitution and Bill of Rights, the safeguards created by the first Americans, are out of date: should be modernized to fit the troubled world, at colossal cost to us—One World.

One World—but whose?

If you will think a minute you'll remember that these concepts originated with politicians, the shrewdest we've ever known; with braintrusters and job-hungry satellites who became legion. It became a way to get elected, and stay elected, the New Deal.

New Dealism was distorted, amplified, multiplied even beyond the dreams of its author. Depression made it thrive. Self-seeking demagogues preyed upon the plight of the people and led part of them to distrust and hate the other part. It deceived so well that it even crossed party lines.

Thus came to this country the very thing upon which Communism flourishes; war to the hilt between the haves and the have-nots. Have-nots who have more than the princes of other lands.

So many of the men we elect, and so many they appoint to pilot us through greed-lashed seas, are so afraid that they'll miss the votes of the misguided, exploited masses that the ship of state flounders near the shoals.

And just who are the suckers?

Revolution threw out and murdered the Czars of Russia, the cruel, oppressing ruling class. The world found a measure of justification. Just what did the Russian people get out of it?

They got another ruling class that now seeks to rule the whole world. While the comfort and riches for which the people rebelled are consumed in cold war, with shooting war in prospect, to force others, including us, down to Russia's miserable level.

They got war, want, murder, more greed, no peace, no plenty. They lost their church, their press, their very souls. They got only lies, propaganda, darkness. That's the Communism that we suffer to be preached on our street corners — and say a man can espouse and still be an American.

There is a danger in this country that must be faced. It is akin to the thing that robbed the Russian people of the fruits of their revolution. Dependence upon government — a country-wide epidemic of gimmes.

To rule themselves people must sustain themselves; must have rugged personal independence, as our fathers had when they established this nation. The more the people depend upon the public treasury, accept aid and sustenance from it, the farther they move away from self-government; the stronger, more dominant, wasteful and oppressive government becomes.

Playing up to the gimmes gets votes—buys them, with the very money that the recipient pays in hidden taxes. It is legal for a candidate to buy his way into office with the taxpayers' money.

Daily Bible Thought

But we soon become accustomed to realised dreams and cease to value the desire accomplished. We forget the past and dream new dreams—Prov. 13:19: "The desire accomplished is sweet to the soul."

Gag Men in Politics

By TRUMAN TWILL

Now that it's over and can be written abo Oregonians set a modern record for clowni ness in their recent primary election.

Where else have political candidates be dragged off by jokers pretending to be ca men? In what other state have the governor New York and the former governor of Minn sota been expected to sign autographs in the own blood while wearing pirate hats and pr tending not to care about the loss of a neckt auctioned off by funny fellows?

Oregon is a long way off. One of two thin could be true about the buffoonery out the Either it's what passes for humor in the Nor west, or U.S. radio gagsters have got their in the door and are going to bust up what's l of dignity in the great game of politics. Pro ably the latter is the likelier explanation. The have been signs that something like it has be brewing for a long time.

Jokers have been in a conspiracy to unde mine the American way. They have shrew found the Achilles heels of politicians, which their reluctance to offend anyone who ha vote. Hence the horseplay staged at the e pense. The politicians don't dare to say no fear of being criticized as bum sports—and they go along with the gag they're accor in sappery.

The President of the United States is go to take to the stump in a few days, to whoo up enthusiasm for his candidacy. The gagste will be ready for him too. They will have fu hats for him to wear. Encouraged by what ha pened in Oregon, they'll dig up weird cost and weirder stunts.

If the thing isn't stopped it will be only matter of time until candidates for the h office in the land will be expected to pu peanuts up Pike's Peak with their noses prove they can take it. They'll be thrown i ponds fully clothed, asked to sign autograp with their toes, ordered to perform in pre-ea contests and expected to behave in general l the goofs who will submit to anything on radio show to win a crate of soap flakes.

This is a national election year. The lid w be off. Oregon was a sample of what can ha pen here when gag men go to work on pre dential timber. They can whittle it down bush league size. It's going to take all the co mon sense and dignity the presidential ca date can muster to stave off the goons wh idea of qualification for public office is inab to say no to citizens whose development arrested at the third grade level.

They had a triumph in Oregon. It may h been something strange about Oregonians it may have been a sign of the times. This m be the year of the great goofiness in politic anything for a gag, anything for a vote.

KIWANIS CLUB SERVICE HELD

Honors Memory of War Dead; Mansfield Minister Is Speaker.

In observance of Memorial Day, a short memorial service in memory of those who gave their lives for their country in times of war, conducted by Rev. Mathew G. Madden, pastor of the Congregational church at Mansfield, opened the program at the Kiwanis club weekly luncheon meeting Thursday at Hotel Harding. A moment of silent prayer led by Rev. Madden followed.

Rev. Madden was present as guest speaker. Taking as his theme "Speech and Personality," he said there are three languages which everyone uses every day. They are: first, the language which is verbal expression, second, tone which is vocal expression, and third, body action which is pantomimic expression.

Under the verbal expression, Rev. Madden emphasized the fact that it should be short, concise and to the point, getting it over with as quickly as possible. He said verbal can be contradicted by vocal and that vocal is a modulation of tone. Inflections which are included in vocal expressions are the falling inflection which is final and conclusive and to the point, the rising inflection which creates a question, the monotone and the pause. He said vocal expressions should be flexible in order to give the right interpretation of the subject.

Rev. Madden was introduced by Harold Denzer, program chairman for the day.

Three members were officially inducted into the club by Rev. M. E. Hollensen, chairman of the club education committee. They are H. William Freck, George E. Turner and Ernest L. Davis. Officially accepted into the club by transfer were Lester L. Dickey, superintendent of Marion City schools, who came here from Painesville, and Theodore A. Napper, who came from Fostoria.

Announcement was made that at a recent board of directors meeting a total of $600 was allocated to the Salvation Army to be used for its playground work, including supervision, during the summer of 1948. The program was started last year by the Salvation Army in cooperation with the club, which purchased the equipment. The money used for such programs is raised through the special projects fund committee. One of the projects the club has is the gum machines which are located in business places and factories in Marion.

A board of directors and committee chairmen meeting will be held Tuesday, June 1, at 6:30 p. m. at Greenwood Inn.

Fred Nichols of Mansfield was a guest at the club.

Mothers Honored At DeCliff Grange Hall

Women of the Grange were honored in a Mother's day program at a meeting of Montgomery Grange Tuesday night at the hall in DeCliff. Four candidates were obligated in the first and second degrees and it was announced they will receive the third and fourth degrees at the next meeting.

Eldon Koehler was in charge of the program, which opened with a "fishing expedition" skit. Paul Smith and Richard Kennedy, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Merle Kennedy, sang two duets. Sandra Courtad gave a recitation, "My Mother Says" and Larry Uhl recited "The Best Day."

Gifts were presented Mrs. Eldon Koehler who was the most recent mother present, Mrs. Cletus Uhl, the mother of the largest family, Mrs. James Cook, the oldest mother and Mrs. Richard Kennedy, the youngest mother. A song by the men closed the program and later there was a social hour and refreshments.

PICK NAME AT GREEN CAMP

GC Buys Bees is the name given to the Green Camp 4-H club at a meeting Tuesday. The meeting opened with the 4-H pledge, and the president assigned demonstrations for future meetings. Next meeting of the club will be held June 1, and Esther Linley, Joyce Augenstein, and Phyllis Bales will serve on the refreshment committee.

State WCTU Officials Praise Ashley Group

ASHLEY, May 25 — Recognition for being "a fruitful union" has been received by the Ashley WCTU. At a meeting of the group this week in the Methodist church parlors speakers were Miss Monna Rogers, county president, and Rev. H. L. Borden. The recognition certificate came from the state officers, with their signatures.

There were both morning and afternoon sessions when the annual local institute was held Tuesday. The white ribbon rally song opened events, with Mrs. Elsie Riley at the piano. Among other musical features was the song "O Master Let Me Walk With Thee" with Mrs. Lelah Stevens at the piano. Cafeteria service was in charge of Mrs. Edna Litsinberger.

Mrs. Florence Smith, local president, had charge of the afternoon events. The secretary, Mrs. Mary Rutledge gave a report, and the balance report was presented by Mrs. Riley. Miss Rogers commented upon the midyear meeting of the WCTU in Columbus.

Who'll Read It To Him?

Leo Durocher has writte book.

So that's where he was al year.

He might at least have dec ed it to Happy Chandler.

The name of the book is "T Dodgers and Me" and not, as might have expected, "Fore Agitated."

"The Dodgers and Me" . . That doesn't sound like Leo, ta ing second billing.

Durocher is a good example the fact you don't have to literate to be literary. But he best watch his step. They w understand it in the bleachers Ebbets Field the first time T Lip passes up a doubleheader attend an autographing tea

In fact, if Leo doesn't hurry and get Them Bums out of second division, they're liab change the title to "The Dodge and Shotton" again.

In Plain Words

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

THEY sound alike but there is a big difference between the two titles:

Secretary of the interior and minister of the interior.

One is harmless and one isn't. One hardly touches peoples' daily lives, the other has terrific control over them.

In this country we have a secretary of the interior, Julius A. Krug, a stout and friendly man.

James Marlow

He's in charge of the national parks, the fish and wildlife service, public lands, Indian affairs, and he's boss of territories like Hawaii and Alaska.

But in those countries in Europe where the Communists have taken over or would like to, the minister of interior is a key man.

He's in charge of state and secret police; he can block people from moving around the country; he can say who will or won't be allowed to leave or enter the country; he may be in charge of the election machinery; and he may even control food rationing.

That's why the Communists—if they don't have enough strength to take over the government—try to get a Communist into the job of minister of the interior.

In the countries of non-Russian Eastern Europe, where the Communists had little strength before World War II, they were arrested, tortured and jailed for years by their enemies who controlled the government and the police.

SO IT IS OF the greatest importance to the Communists to have one of their party as minister of the interior in those countries where they don't have full control.

In those countries where they do have full control the interior minister, of course, is always a Communist.

The minister, controlling the state police and the secret police, can be sure that his party members don't go to jail.

At the same time he can keep an eye on the enemies of the Communists and even jail them.

When the Communists reach the point where they wish to seize power, the Communist-controlled state police can be used to help them do it. The police can crush all opposition

If the Communists had to pick one job where they wanted to be protected or some day capture the state they probably would pick the interior ministry first.

IN FINLAND THIS WEEK President Paasikivi forced out of the interior minister job a Communist, Yrjoe Leino, who had been censured by the Finnish diet, or parliament.

The Communists in Finland threatened a nationwide strike.

But Paasikivi quickly replaced him with Eino Kilpi, who is considered a fellow traveler of the Communists.

The New York Times reports that "political circles" say Paasikivi was pressured by the Russians into giving Kilpi the job.

Czechoslovakia is another example. There a Communist, Vaclav Nosek, has been interior minister since the government was reorganized when the Germans were driven out in 1945.

When the Communists grabbed power there a couple of months ago Nosek's police helped paralyze the opposition by arresting them and seizing their headquarters.

Communists moved into the interior ministry in the other states of Europe where they took over completely or with some show of working with other parties.

SAYS COMMUNISTS CAN'T SUPPORT BILL

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 28 — William Z. Foster, American Communist party leader, said today the party will not comply with the house-approved Communist control bill if it becomes law.

Foster told the senate judiciary committee the Mundt-Nixon bill would create a "Fascist police state" in this country. He said his party could not comply with provisions requiring Communist groups to register with the government.

"If the Mundt-Nixon bill were to pass, the Communist party would not perjure itself by admitting any resemblance to the monstrous caricature of its nature and purposes drawn in this bill," he said.

"It would not dishonor the 15,000 members of our party who fought against Fascism in World War II by giving de facto sanction to Hitler's big lie," he said. "That is one reason why we would refuse to register."

Foster's statement was read by John Gates, who accompanied him.

"As a party of patriotic and loyal Americans, we could not and would not become accomplices to the murder of the bill of rights," Foster said, adding:

"This is another reason why we would not register. And finally we would not register because we will never expose our members to persecution, ostracism and blacklisting in employment."

Rep. Vito Marchantonio, American Labor party member from New York, also opposed the measure.

WOULDST ESCHEW HAZARD BABIES CHOOSE TO CHEW?

Oh, list to the hazards
Your child must eschew,
To wind up each day
As good as new;
Away with all grabbable, chewable things
From hairpins and shears
To the kettle that sings.
Into each mouth some rayon must fall,
But a baby starts out by tasting all
Of his clothes, and his toys—
Plain or painted—
So junk every one that seems to be tainted.
And as if there weren't trouble enough in this
Mom must bounce Babe's admirers
Intent on a kiss!

FIRE DAMAGES OHIO PRISON

By The United Press

COLUMBUS, May 28—Ohio penitentiary officials estimated today that damages would run into "several hundred dollars" from a fire in the deputy warden's office last night. Acting Warden Ralph Alvis said the fire started about 11 p. m. in a stack of empty boxes and cartons in a second story hallway of a stone building that houses the prison commissary. The fire was quickly brought under control by penitentiary fire units and two Columbus companies, Alvis said.

Two Minor Mishaps Reported by Patrol

Two minor automobile accidents and one arrest were reported by the state highway patrol today.

A car owned by Miss Nina Jewett of 354 Franklin street and driven by Wesley Minnick of 274 Patton street and one driven by Clarence Sands of 570 King avenue collided at 9:15 p. m. yesterday just north of the junction of highways 23 and 4. Slight damage resulted to the vehicles.

Cars driven by Ralph Baney of Galion and Floyd Sterritt of Mt. Gilead were slightly damaged at 7:20 p. m. yesterday when the vehicles were involved in a collision on route 42 in Mt. Gilead.

James P. Johnson of Bucyrus posted $25 for his appearance in municipal court tomorrow, following his arrest on highway 4 at 11:30 p.m. yesterday. He is charged with operating a vehicle in excess of the speed limit.

station, Robert H. Stief, agent at the Union station reports.

Nearly 30 milllion cars will be on the move, the National Safety council estimates. The council also estimates there will be 225 persons killed in traffic accidents over the three-day period. This estimated toll could be cut in half, the council says, if motorists observed extra caution and courtesy.

SOUR NOTE SOUNDED

NEW YORK—Oliver Simms, organist of the Day Star Baptist church, found the keyboard cover of his organ had been screwed down by a faction trying to oust him. He got a screw driver, loosened the cover, and played a discord every time the minister tried to speak. Police were called to halt the ensuing scuffle.

MIAMI U. SPEAKER — The Chinese ambassador to the United States, Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo, (above), will be the speaker at Miami university's 109th annual commencement Monday morning, June 7, at 10:30 in Oxford, O. Dr. Koo, who has been ambassador also to France and Great Britain, will speak on "The World at the Crossroads."

BROTHER KILLED IN PALESTINE. Looking at a picture of her brother, Mrs. Reba Douty of Huntington Park, Calif., grieves over the death of U. S. Navy raidoman Herbert M. Walker, who died after being hit by a sniper's bullet in Jerusalem. A veteran of the war in the South Pacific, Walker is survived by a wife and three-year-old son in New York, where he had his home.

parties on the line and he laughed and joked about it.

Makes Phone Call

"Mr. Sellers went out then to wait on another car and he tried the phone again. This time he got his party. I couldn't help overhearing him say, 'I suppose you noticed the children and I are missing.' I thought he was probably a father who had just come home from work and taken his little girls out for a ride without their mother knowing they were gone and had called home to keep her from worrying. I walked back into the kitchen then and didn't hear any more."

Sellers said that Gerstenlauer had driven his car in from the east and was facing Marion. He took the half full bottle of pop with him and drove off to the west. In about ten minutes Sellers observed that Gerstenlauer was back. He went into the station again, returned the pop bottle he had taken, ordered two full ones and used the phone again. No one at the service station heard his second phone conversation. He then drove off with the children taking the two full bottles of pop with him.

Claim Agent on Train

James C. Mann of Youngstown, district claim agent of the Erie, who was a passenger on the train started an investigation of the crash as soon as the train had stopped. Dairy, foreman of the signal crew at the crossing placed a call for highway patrolmen, and sheriff's deputies and an ambulance from the portable signal crew phone.

Mann found that the train, which was brought to a stop ¾ of a mile beyond the crossing, had not derailed. He assisted the train crew in backing the train to remove the car from the front of the locomotive where it had lodged itself after the collision. The car was totally demolished and was pinned upright on the front of the engine with the front and rear of the car doubled back around the sides of the engine by the crash.

Rescuers found one of the children in the front seat of the smashed car and the other child in the back seat. It was necessary to back the engine twice to unbend the car sufficiently that the bodies of the two children could be removed.

As soon as the car was released from the front of the locomotive, the car motor dropped out. The grill, and hood of the car was found a half mile from where the train stopped.

Gerstanlauer's body was thrown free of the car 200 feet beyond the crossing and was not discovered until the Uncapher-Bastian ambulance arrived on the scene. Impact of the collision was so great Mann said that one wheel of the car was thrown higher than telephone poles along the track.

Mann stated the train, which was bound from Chicago to Jersey City, had pulled from Union Station in Marion at 3:19 p. m. on time. He estimated the distance of five miles had been covered when the crash occurred. The zone in which the train was traveling was a 70 mile zone, and Mann stated that the express was proceeding at a normal rate for that section of the line. There were 210 passengers on the train.

State highway patrolmen and sheriff's deputies with city police had been on the lookout for Gerstenlauer and his car. The first word of the collision reached state patrolmen by telephone, the call coming from Signal Foreman Dairy at the scene. A patrol car was heading south from Bucyrus at the time. It was notified by radio and patrolmen rushed to the scene.

Followed Court Hearing

The tragedy followed by less than four hours a hearing in common pleas court in divorce proceedings. Mrs. Gerstenlauer had filed for divorce May 20 charging gross neglect and extreme cruelty.

The court had issued that day, in connection with the petition, a restraining order requiring Gerstenlauer to remain clear of the residential portion of the dry cleaning establishment. Mrs. Gerstenlauer had charged her husband with disobeying the order and her attorney Frank Wiedemann filed a contempt charge against Gerstenlauer. Hearing on the charge was held yesterday morning at 10:30. Gerstenlauer was represented by Carter M. Patton.

The session was terminated at 11:30 when Mrs. Gerstenlauer after breaking into tears said "I'll get out and take the kids with me." Her husband still persisted the court could not throw him out of his own home. Gerstenlauer had said earlier "If I have to get out of this house, life wouldn't be worth living."

Mrs. Gerstenlauer told her attorney that she would send her two children to her sisters in Columbus and that she would get a room here for herself. She said she would call her sister right away and have her come up and get the children.

No action was taken by the court to enforce the restraining order after Mrs. Gerstenlauer had broken the impasse by agreeing to leave the home.

Went Home At Noon

She left the courtroom with her attorney shortly after 11:30. Mr. Wiedemann said they went to his office where they remained for about 15 to 20 minutes discussing the situation and then she went home. He said she returned home at approximately 12 o'clock.

Within an hour Mrs. Gerstenlauer called her attorney. She said her husband was home and causing trouble. Mr. Wiedemann quoted her as saying he said he going to get drunk and "I showed that court they can't throw a man out of his own house." Mrs. Gerstenlauer was packing up preparing to get out of the house at the time. The children were with her.

Attorney Wiedemann indicated that he had been employed as her counsel for about a year, Mrs. Gerstenlauer having consulted him about a year ago relative to instigating divorce proceedings. Apparently a reconciliation of sorts had been effected, and had lasted until this spring when failing to make a go of things, divorce proceedings were actually instigated.

Calls Attorney Again

Mr. Wiedemann said she was still very much wrought up when she called him shortly after noon. He advised her to contact the police if he became violent toward her. She told him Gerstenlauer probably wouldn't be there long as he had said he was going out and get good and drunk. Later he left the house with the children.

Wiedemann said that was the last he heard about the affair until she called again shortly after 3 p. m. and told him Gerstenlauer had called her saying he was going to kill the children and himself. The attorney told her to notify the authorities. The police, state highway patrol and the sheriff's office immediately launched a search for the green 1941 Buick coupe containing Gerstenlauer and two children.

The sheriff's office at the time the call came in was preparing to serve a paper on Mrs. Gerstenlauer. Her husband had filed suit for partition seeking disposition of their property.

Deputy M. E. Baldwin and Deputy George Conroy immediately went to the home, serving the paper and talking briefly with Mrs. Gerstenlauer before starting on a search. Baldwin served the paper while Conroy waited in the car. He described the woman as appearing under a terrific strain, deeply fushed and emotionally tense. She reported her husband's statement and added "You've got to do something. He'll do what he says. I know he will." This was about 3:15, shortly before the tragedy actually took place.

Baldwin returned to the cruiser and with Conroy began a search. Mrs. Gerstenlauer said she thought her husband might have gone south.

Search West of Town

The deputies first searched the gravel pit west of the Marion airport then swung north to the old Marion Stone Co. quarry north of the Garden City pike, then swung east to search the Crystal Park lake area and the Scioto Ordinance Plant grounds. They reported traveling as far east as the Pole Lane road before swinging back west into Marion. Their search came within a mile or two of the tragedy scene. They heard of the wreck at 4:15.

In the meantime at approximately 3:35, Deputy Edgar Fink received a call from John Dairy, Erie railroad signal foreman that a train had struck a car at "the old Slick crossing" north of Five Points. Dairy said he thought the authorities might want to know about it as "it looks as though two or three persons may have been killed."

Fink immediately called the highway patrol with Corporal Tom Morgan replying that the patrol had just been notified and had a man on the way out. The deputy then took off for the scene. Possibility of a connection between the accident and the search for Gerstenlauer did not enter his mind at the time, Fink said.

Arriving at the scene, the deputy first talked to train conductor J. A. Nelson who told him the auto was still on the locomotive. The conductor said there were two little ones inside. Fink then asked him what color the car was and at the same time a spectator handed him a cancelled check found amid the wreckage strewn along the right of way.

Identification Made

The check was signed Charles M. Gerstenlauer.

Before coming to Marion, Mr. Gerstenlauer was employed as an electrical engineer for an industrial plant in South Carolina. Mrs. Gerstenlauer was employed in the same plant before their marriage. Late in 1945, arrangements were made by the family to come to Marion for Mr. Gerstenlauer to take over management of the Acme Dry Cleaners place of business. Mrs. Gerstenlauer's home was originally in Champaign county in Ohio, near Urbana. Her mother resides now in Columbus. Mr. Gerstenlauer's home town, Ephrata, Pa., is in the southeastern part of the state.

Private funeral services for the father and daughters will be Saturday morning in the Schaffner-Denzer funeral home on East Center street, Rev. M. E. Hollensen, pastor of Emanuel Lutheran church will officiate. Burial will be in Forest Glen Memorial park.

Charles Mark Gerstenlauer was born April 25, 1907, in Ephrata, Pa., a son of Christ and Mary Gerstenlauer. He married Elsie Hurst April 24, 1943, in Robinsville, S. C. A resident of Marion two and a half years, he came here from Knoxville, Tenn.

Surviving with Mrs. Gerstenlauer are the father and two brothers, Paul Gerstenlauer of State College, Pa., and Clarence of Ephrata.

Sandra Kay Gerstenlauer was born Sept. 3, 1944, in Knoxville, Tenn., and Gay Lou Gerstenlauer was born Feb. 28, 1946, in Marion.

Att'y. Gen. Clark Tags 32 Groups Subversive

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 28 — Thirty-two organizations were tagged "subversive" today by Attorney General Clark.

The 32 are in addition to a list of approximately 90 groups so designated by Clark last November.

The new names were announced by the federal loyalty review board.

The board has the job of checking on loyalty of federal employes. President Truman ordered the check. The President has said that membership in an organization designated as "subversive" should be considered as one basis for investigtaion of a government worker's loyalty.

Prominent on the original list were the Communist party and numerous alleged Communist front organizations, as well as many defunct groups like the German-American bund.

VOTED OUT, SMUTS RESIGNS AS PREMIER

By The Associated Press

JOHANNESBURG, UNION OF SOUTH AFRICA, May 28—Prime Minister Jan Christian Smuts resigned today and Dr. Daniel Francois Malan, victor in Tuesday's elections, was called to form a new South African government.

Malan is an outspoken isolationist and his nationalist party advocates segregation of the natives.

Smuts lost his own seat in parliament in the balloting Tuesday and his party lost its parliamentary majority to the coalition of the Nationalists and Afrikaners.

The 78-year-old statesman had only this to say:

"These things happen. What is to be will be."

Announcement of the defeat of Smuts by 224 votes in his own district came with startling suddenness last night and was followed swiftly by a swelling of the anti-government trend in other districts. Smuts has been prime minister since 1939 and also served in that post from 1919 to 1924.

Dr. Malan is a 74-year-old former clergyman of the Dutch Reformed church.

Daytime Activities Have Effect on Sleep

Restful sleep is important to a child and depends largely upon how he has spent the day. At no times should the mid-day nap be eliminated, as skipping this rest period may leave the child too tired to sleep in the evening.

One of the best means of assuring a restful night's sleep, even after an exciting day, is to set aside the half hour before bedtime to quiet pleasures that will not stimulate the child's mind.

BOY, 14, SMOTHERS GIRL, 8, TO DEATH

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, May 28—A quarrel over comic books between two youngsters ended when a 14-year-old boy smothered an eight-year-old neighbor girl to death with a pillow, Police Lt. Patrick Coughlin said today.

Lt. Coughlin said the boy, Roy Adams, admitted pressing a pillow down on the head of tiny, blonde Nancy Schuler for "five minutes."

The girl was found yesterday by Roy's brother, Donald, 9, on Roy's bed in the Adams apartment. Piled on top of her were pillows, blankets, a chair and a bookcase. A fire department rescue squad failed to revive her.

Roy was seized this morning on an elevated train. Lt. Coughlin said the lad told him he had spent last night riding the trains aimless after leaving home because "I felt something was wrong."

Lt. Coughlin said the youth gave this oral story of the fatal quarrel:

The girl, who lived across the hall from Roy, went to the Adams apartment to borrow comic books.

He refused to lend them, Nancy cried that she'd "never, never come over again." The boy pushed her. She fell down and cried. He flung her on the bed and pressed a pillow over her head. She cried stop, Roy! Stop, Roy!" Her voice became fainter. "Then, all at once, she stopped."

The boy then piled additional bedcloths and the furniture on the bed. He took $45 of his mother's money, a couple of books and a cigar box containing an assortment of personal possessions including pocket knives, harmonicas, a Wright watch and soldiers' decoration ribbons, and left home.

Your end was sudden, mother dear.
You made us weep and cry;
But oh! the saddest part of all,
You never said goodbye.
She little thought when leaving home
She would return no more,
That she in death would sleep alone
And leave us here to mourn.
Years may wipe out many things,
But this they wipe out never,
The memory of all the happy days
That we all spent together.
To those who have a mother,
Tend her with loving care,
For you will never know the value
Till you see her vacant chair.

Consider Grandstand Financing in Bucyrus

BUCYRUS, May 28—The possibility of mortgaging the county fairground to meet the balance of the cost of erection of a grandstand was considered when the Crawford county fair board met Wednesday night to check the progress of a move to sell $25,000 in $500 notes to help finance the grandstand. To date approximately $20,000 in notes have been sold, fair board officers said.

The fair board is short approximately $25,000 of the estimated $53,000 needed to build a stand, on which construction has already been started by a Galion construction firm.

To consider the possibility of a mortgage the fair board is meeting Friday with county commissioners.

The stand, under present specifications roofless due to the need for more money, is expected to be ready for use when the county resumes a county fair September 6-9, the first since the grandstand was destroyed by fire in 1940.

METHODISTS NEED 400 NEW CHURCHES

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 28—The Methodist church must build 400 churches a year for the next 10 years to meet its rapid growth, the executive secretary of the division of home missions and church extension predicts.

In a speech to the annual Ohio conference of the Methodist church, Dr. Earl R. Brown of New York told conference delegates that 603 new Methodist churches were organized within the last 18 months.

In 1947, he said, the Methodist church made 680 contributions to smaller churches totaling $1,500,000.

Earlier, Ohio Methodists indicated they wanted Protestant churches to denounce "any financial support" extended religious groups by national or state governments.

Delegates to the church's annual Ohio conference yesterday unanimously approved a report by the commission on social action, denunciating public support for parochial schools, "either Roman Catholic or Protestant."

The report also offered support to President Truman's controversial civil rights program.

The conference tonight will hold an appreciation service for Bishop H. Lester Smith, who is retiring as bishop of the Ohio conference at the age of 72. Bishop Smith has been a Methodist minister for more than 50 years and a bishop for 28 years.

George Schertzer of New Bloomington, president of the official board of Wesley Methodist church in Marion, was elected district lay leader of Lima district at a session today of the Ohio annual conference of the Methodist churches being held this week in Columbus.

New York Stock Quotations

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 28 — The stock market quietly declined today.

In an extension of yesterday's slow retreat, a wide variety of leading issues lost fractions to around a point

Trading was at about the slowest rate of the week, with the ticker tape standing motionless for minutes at a time

Trimmed a bit were such issues as Republic Steel, Chrysler, Studebaker, International Harvester, Anaconda Copper, Phelps Dodge, General Electric, Allied Chemical, Pennsylvania Railroad and Mission Corp

A better showing was made by J I Case, National Distillers Union Carbide, Gulf Oil and Transcontinental & Western Air

Brokers reported that Wall Street was in a typical pre-holiday mood. Many of their customers, they said, had already started the weekend recess, which will extend through Monday

I COVER A LOT OF TERRITORY ON MY PAPER ROUTE!

I have my problems just the same as you do. Some people want me to deliver their paper one place, others want it in some other location. I try to please them all.

I am a little business man, in business for myself. I buy my papers at wholesale, paying for them each week, and sell them at retail, the difference is my profit and working capital.

I am the sole judge of whom to extend credit to.

If you don't pay me, I can't pay for my papers, I lose my profit, and become discouraged.

I collect each Saturday morning, help me by paying each week and should you not be at home at my regular collection time leave your money and card where I can get it.

Thanks,

DEATHS and FUNERALS

Mrs. Della Ternester

Mrs. Della Ternester, 76, sister and aunt of Marion residents, died in her home at Mounds, Okla., at 6:40 a. m. Thursday. She had been ill a number of years.

Born in Paulding county, she was a daughter of William and Matilda Pickering. Her marriage was to Fred Ternester.

Surviving with her husband are stepchildren, Mrs. Nora Byard of Kiefer, Okla., and Harvey Ternester of Colorado, a sister, Mrs. Alice Anderson of 561 Avondale avenue, and nieces, Mrs. Sylvester McClaskey of the Avondale avenue address, and Mrs. John A. Hudson of 1015 North Main street. Mrs. Anderson was at Mounds at the time of her sister's death, having been called there earlier by her serious illness.

Miss Lydia Firstenberger

Miss Lydia Sophia Firstenberger, 79, of south of Marion died at 6:20 a. m. today in City hospital following an illness of two months.

Born Feb. 5, 1869, in Richland township, she was a daughter of Daniel and Caroline Mautz Firstenberger, the father a native of Germany and the mother of Pennsylvania. She was a member of St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church in Richland township.

Only close survivor is a sister, Mrs. Christena Yager of south of Marion.

Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday at 2 p. m. in the Schaffner-Denzer funeral home on East Center street by Rev. H. N. Doerres, pastor of St. John's church. Burial will be in Marion cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after Sunday noon.

William M. Baker

William Michel Baker, two-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Baker of West Fairground street at Fountain street, died at home at 7 a. m. today. He was born at City hospital Tuesday, a son of Andrew J. and Lillian Everly Baker. Surviving with the parents are four brothers, James, David, Paul and Freddie Baker. Funeral services will be conducted Saturday at 10 a. m. in the Uncapher-Bastian funeral home on West Columbia street by Rev. Eldon R. Martin, pastor of First Wesleyan Methodist church. Burial will be in Marion cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 7:30 tonight.

Mrs. Vella Ivaloo Wood

RICHWOOD—Mrs. Vella Ivaloo Wood, 70, of Claiborne died at 3:15 a. m. today in the home of a daughter, Mrs. Opal Haines, at Sumersville. She had been ill two years. Born Nov. 7, 1877, in New California, O., she was a daughter of Isaac and Anna Jolliff Wallace. Feb. 17, 1894, at Pharisburg, she married Ernest Wood who died Jan. 31, 1947. She was a member of the Methodist church at Claiborne. Her daughter was her only close survivor. Funeral services will be conducted Sunday at 3 p. m. in the Claiborne church by Rev. Guy Jeffers of Marysville. Burial will be in Maskill cemetery at Claiborne. Friends may call at the Winter funeral home in Richwood.

Miss Myrtle Miller

CAREY—Miss Myrtle May Miller, about 56, of the Wyandot county home, died in Bucyrus hospital at 11 p. m. Thursday. She had been a resident of the county home five years. Born at Crawford, she was a daughter of Dallas and Ida Lortz Miller. Surviving are four brothers, William H. Miller, Max D. Miller, Charles Miller and Marion Miller, all of Carey. Funeral services will be conducted Saturday at 2:30 p. m. in the Bristoll funeral home here by Rev. Wade Koons. Burial will be in Spring Grove cemetery, Carey. Friends may call at the funeral home.

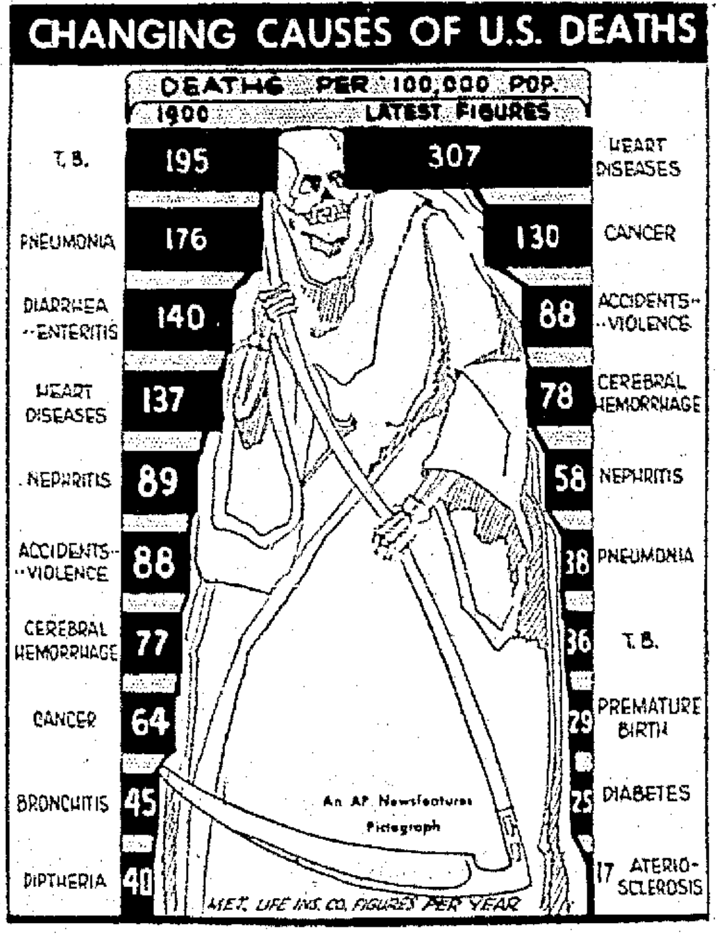
Almost 20 million American homes have no central heating plants.

MASTER OHIO CARVER—Ernest Warther, 63, of Dover, Ohio, works on a model of an early-day locomotive he carved from ivory for the New York Central Railroad. Warther, who learned to whittle as a boy, worked in a steel mill until the railway learned of his hobby and hired him as a full-time carver. Models in his collection depict the evolution of the steam engine.

CHANGING CAUSES OF U.S. DEATHS



URGES SURCHARGE ON RESERVE CAR PLATES

By International News Service

COLUMBUS, May 28 — The state was urged today to discontinue the practice of issuing "reserved" auto license plates unless a charge of approximately $1 is made to cover the extra administratrive cost.

The recommendation was contained in a bulky, 232-page report on the fiscal operations of the highway department from 1942 to 1947. The report was compiled by the Ohio Public Expenditure council, a non-profit agency which has been studying Ohio governmental operations.

Seven pages of single-spaced, typewritten recommendations concluded the report. The recommendations also urged that consideration be given to a proposal to revamp the formula under which highway funds are distributed to municipalities, counties and townships.

Distribution on the basis of road mileage within the local subdivisions was suggested.

On the reserved auto license plate question the report stated:

"A special charge should be adopted and enforced for the handling of 'reserved license plates.'

"At the present time, no such charge is made for the 90,399 plates on the reserved list.

"The extra cost to the state in the issuance of these licenses is estimated by the bureau (of motor vehicles) at approximately one dollar each."

The present formula for the distribution of highway funds, the report pointed out, was established nearly a quarter of a century ago, and "gives but little recognition to the mileage or condition of roads or streets to be improved."

A study should be made, the report urged, to give special attention to the road improvement programs in the various subdivisions. For example, it was stated, the road mileage which the trustees are required to repair and maintain in the 1,377 townships ranges from none in some townships to as much as 65 miles in others.

Under the present plan, however, each township receives the same amount of state funds for road purposes.

UNION

ceived two weeks ago, and not yesterday as indicated in yesterday's news story.

The text of the board's statement follows:

"Feeling the statement to the press by the local's former president was misleading, the executive board wishes to state the real issues involved in his resignation, two weeks ago, following a change in some policies of the local. These issues are:

"1. A desire by the membership of Local 704 for more businesslike meetings, including full financial reports of how the local's money was being spent.

"2. Demands by the membership for a regular negotiating committee to handle grievances in the plant and to stop the "speed-up" instituted by the General Electric Co.

"3. Increased interest by the membership in receiving the full benefits due them under the contract between the UE and the GE company.

"4. Realization by the membership of the need to press the GE company for a wage increase this year, through more activity in the plant.

"The board further stated that it is in full accord with their democratic union where all policies of the international are made by rank and file elected representatives from every local, and the policies of the locals are made by the membership, and not by one officer."

The statement expressed appreciation for the help the local asked for and received from the UE organizers in this area.

The statement was signed by Harry Hayes, new president of the local, Virginia Rush, financial secretary, Emma Mullins, chief steward, Dorothy Heil, Frances Hannon, Lois Ford, Hazel Schwartzkopf, Cecil Gingery, Minnie Flack and Ethel Armstrong. Emma Mullins and Lois Ford are residents of Marion. The others live in Bucyrus.

TRAIN ABANDONMENT COMPLAINTS FILED

By The United Press

COLUMBUS, May 28 — The state public utilities commission today announced it had received "numerous" complaints on the New York Central Line's abandonment of two trains between Toledo and Columbus.

The trains, carrying both passengers and freight, were taken out of service March 22 during the coal strike and were not put back, the complaints said.

One train left Columbus at 10:05 a. m. and arrived in Toledo at 1:25 p. m. and the other left Toledo at 3:05 p. m. and arrived at Columbus at 6:25 p. m. They served Marysville, West Mansfield, Kenton, Findlay, and Bowling Green.

Complaints filed with the commission were all idential and said the withdrawals have caused "dire need for adequate service between cities and points outside the state."

Signers included G. L. Kingsmore, mayor of Marysville; William L. Coleman, prosecuting attorney of Union county; Rep. J. E. Simson, Hardin county; Walter Gust, president of the Kenton Chamber of Commerce; C. E. Flanigan, editor of the Kenton Daily Democrat, and numerous others.

The commission will serve notice of the complaints on the company and give it 15 days to answer. If the railroad refuses to remedy the situation a date will be set for a hearing.

COL. BIDDLE DIES AT 73

By The Associated Press

SYOSSET, N. Y., May 28—Col. Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, 73, a Philadelphia millionaire who became one of the world's foremost experts in hand-to-hand combat, died yesterday. He taught U. S. marines in both world wars the fine arts of jujitsu, knife stabbing, eye-gouging, strangulation and bayonet fighting. A noted socialite and sportsman, Biddle was at various times an author, newspaper reporter, publisher, corporation executive, amateur boxer, singer and religious worker. He was the father of Anthony J. Drexel Biddle Jr., now a colonel with U. S. occupation forces in Germany and formerly American minister to Norway and ambassador to Poland.

LONDON HONORS "RED HOT MAMMA." Known to Broadway as "the last of the red hot mammas," songstress Sophie Tucker pours a cup of tea for the Lord Mayor of London, Sir Fredericks Wells, during a reception held for her at the Mansion House. She was the first artist ever to achieve such an honor.

TO PREACH SUNDAY

Rev. Ben Rider, a student at Garrett Biblical institute, Evanston, Ill., will be guest preacher at the Magnetic Springs and Pharisburg Methodist churches Sunday morning, Rev. Hiram B. Holdridge, pastor, announced. He will fill the pulpits in the absence of the pastor who will be in attendance at the Ohio annual conference of the Methodist church at Columbus. The sermon subject will be "Toward the Mark."

Youth for Christ Rally Set for Saturday Night

A Marion Youth for Christ rally will be held Saturday night at Emmanuel Baptist church with the Smith-Henderson evangelistic party as guest speakers and musicians. The rally at the church at North Main and Fairview streets will be at 8, and will begin with a song service. Rev. Paul Smith of Toronto, Canada, and Mr. and Mrs. John Henderson compose the evangelistic party.

Dr. C. E. Hershey, director of Marion Youth for Christ, will be in charge, assisted by Rev. Robert A. Maugans. Rev. Smith will give the message. He plays the trombone and sings, as well as preaches, in his evangelistic campaigns. Mr. Henderson will lead the song service and will play the French horn and trumpet. Mrs. Henderson is the pianist. "Unique choruses" will be interspersed with "old fashioned Gospel hymns." "The artists are all young folk, and the program is especially for youth, so all young people in Marion and near Marion are cordially invited to attend," Dr. Hershey said.

U. B. CLASS MEETING

When the Builders class of First Evangelical United Brethren church met Tuesday night at the Community house, devotions were in charge of Mrs. Walter Scranton, Mrs. Don Hochstettler and L. E. Walters. During a social hour, Miss Ruth Ann Miller sang, and readings were by Mrs. Owen Miller and Mrs. S. A. Hill. Contest awards went to Mrs. Hochstettler and Walter Scranton. The next meeting will be a picnic. On the social committee are Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Prettyman.

HARDING HIGH GROUP IN LAST APPEARANCE

Sings Three Numbers to Members of Exchange Club.

The Harding High school male quartet, directed by L. G. Jones, made their last public appearance as a singing group before the regular meetings of the exchange club Thursday noon at Hotel Harding.

The quartet includes: Jack Hoffman, first tenor; Jim Hill, second tenor; Bob Ralston, baritone; Jim Coss, bass. They sang three numbers: "Sidewalks of New York", "Street Urchin Medley", and "Kentucky Babe". School graduation and their attendance at different colleges in the fall will break up this popular singing group.

At the next Exchange meeting Eric Page, treasurer of the Marion Theater guild, and a member of the cast of its forthcoming production "The Whole Town's Talking," will discuss the guild and its mission in Marion.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

"Yes, Mary," I told my husband's beautiful troubled niece. "I am sure your uncle has deflated Georges thoroughly. By the time I left him, he was quite absorbed in plans for the marriage. And that one touch about wanting 'K' instead of Noel for his best man convinced me more than anything else that what he calls his heart really is Olina's."

She smiled a bit teasingly at me, but there was an elusive hint of something else in the smile.

"Poor Georges!" she said. "He cannot convince anybody of his sincerity. They hope he's telling the truth, but they can't be sure of it."

"That's where you're wrong," I said. "Of course he put on such a convincing show, such as 'never was seen on sea or land,' of the way his conscience was flagellating him, that for a while I really was afraid we'd have to call the wedding off."

"No, you wouldn't," she said with sudden spirit. "If you and Uncle Dicky had failed with him, which I knew you wouldn't, I, myself, would have gone out there, and whittled him down to size. I'd like to see him dare to look me in the eye, and tell me I was in love with him."

I returned the gamin grin with which she had finished her diatribe.

"I'm grateful you didn't have to face anything like that," I said.

She gave me another inscrutable glance.

"Who knows?" she asked lightly. "I might have enjoyed it. I owe Georges a thing or two. I might have been glad of the opportunity to pay him back a side swipe or two.

"No, I don't mean that," she said. "I really feel sorry for the lug—not any more, you and Uncle Dicky seem to have brought him back to sanity—but from what you say, he must have had a tough time of it when he was inviting his soul.

"Georges always was like that," she went on musingly. "I remember, in those old, old days, he used to get awfully wrought up over things he thought were his fault. I used to call him 'Don Quixote.' Isn't that queer?"

She was lost in memories, I saw, and I hoped that the tenderness of them would not send a wandering tendril to disturb her present happiness.

"But he could get down to earth, too," she said, "and I imagine that there's where he is now. You see, subconsciously, he must have been wishing that someone would come along and rescue him from his own delusions. I am firmly convinced, aren't you, that he really is very much in love with Olina?"

"If he isn't, he surely was giving a realistic performance before we left," I said, and her sigh of relief appeared to come from the soles of her shoes.

"I want to thank you and Uncle Dicky for one thing," she said, "and that is the picture of Georges you drew for us tonight.

"I suppose it's pride," she said, "but I couldn't bear thinking of the lad as a four-flushing, fantastic egotist. After all, he was my first love, and he was very sweet in those old days."

She fell silent, and I did not disturb her nostalgic memories by a single word.

"Now," she said at last, "while his actions were ridiculous, at least they were dignified by real suffering."

"You would not have thought him ridiculous if you had seen him stand up to your uncle," I told her. "He really was 'every inch a king' for a few moments."

"I'm glad," she said, "for the sake of my pride and my memories, and for Olina's sake. I'd hate to have her marry a man whose swollen ego had consumed him."

"I don't think you need to worry about either of them," I said. "Olina never will know anything about it—I made him promise that, and I'm very sure he'll be glad to forget it."

"But he won't forget that best man thing," she said. "Suppose Noel should discover that Georges didn't want him for best man. He'd be sure to imagine it was because of me, not of Olina."

In 1832 there were 40 miles of railroad in the United States.

FIND RUNAWAY — Leaving Youth Center in New York City is ten-year-old Donald Lee Stover of Harrisburg, Pa., who ran away from home with a puppy when his parents said he couldn't keep the dog. Accompanying him are his mother and father who came from their home town to pick up the boy after police had managed to locate him. Little Donald said that he gave the pup to a man he met at Coney Island.

Surinam, known also as Dutch Guiana, provided three-fifths of the bauxite used for America's increased aluminum production in World War II.

Field Meet for Grade School Boys Set by Y

A field meet for boys in the fourth and sixth grades of the twelve grade schools in Marion will be held Saturday at the Harding field under the direction of the YMCA. The meet is scheduled to get underway at 9:30 a. m.

Nine events have been planned for the meet, including a sack race, newspaper race, one-legged race, relay race and obstacle race. However, each boy will be permitted to participate in only four events.

A number of Hi-Y club members will assist in the judging at the meet. In case of rain, the meet will be postponed.

Grange Youth Group Plans Armory Dance

At a recent meeting of the Progressive Grange Youth club, plans were made for a public dance to be held Friday, June 4, at the Marion Armory. Music will be by Freddie Kries and his orchestra of Cardington. Advance tickets for the affair can be obtained from members of the club.

Recreation for the evening was in charge of Daryl McClenathan, and euchre was played. Refreshments were served by Daryl McClenathan and Ralph Bozer. The next meeting will be June 3 at the Grange hall with Pat Blank and Pete Austin serving on the refreshment committee.

Cubs' Jim Edgar Limits Reds to 4 Hits in Winning 1st Start, 10-1

Rout Tumbles Muncie From Ohio-Indiana League Lead

By BILL DIEM

To the Muncie Reds, Big Jim Edgar must have looked like a windmill last night.

The six-foot, three-inch recent addition to the Marion Cubs mound staff threw a little of everything from every direction in holding the powerful Muncie Reds, the Ohio-Indiana league's leading hitters, to paltry four hits

A Marion error kept the 22-year-old right hander from notching a shutout in his first start for the Cubs. As it was, Marion won, 10 to 1.

Muncie's defeat, plus a pair of victories by the Springfield Giants over Zanesville's Dodgers, tumbled the Reds from their first place perch in the O-I loop, but Marion's win still left them in fifth place, four games behind the leading Giants, but it did get them back up to the .500 mark in won and lost records.

Meet Again Tonight

Muncie and Marion will meet again tonight on the Lincoln park diamond with Nick Alivojvodic Manager Zeke Bekeza's choice to pitch for the Cubs

Not only did Edgar pitch the Cubs to their twelfth victory, but he drove in what proved to be the winning run.

It was in the fourth inning Don Schmitt had walked, Ken Ostrander had doubled him to third and Edgar hit to shortstop, who threw to first for the putout as Schmitt crossed the plate with the winning marker.

Edgar come to Marion last Monday from Nelson Burbrink's Clinton, Ia., Cubs of the Class C Central Association, where he had won one and lost one.

Throws From Everywhere

"I throw them from everywhere," he told catcher Bob Shuford before the game," Submarine, sidearm, everything. And don't be surprised if I throw a couple of screwballs."

Edgar, a 196-pound ball player of the tobbaco chewing stamp, was just wild enough to keep them from crowding the plate. He walked five and hit two batters last night, and struck out four. But he had them reaching for bad balls.

The Muncie run that denied him a shutout came in the second. He hit Carl Bush on the ankle with a fast ball and Bob Nieman singled to right field, but Lou Castrovince let the ball get through him and Bush scored

But while Edgar had a good night on the mound, Ken Lanning, up until tonight the O-I league's leading hurler with four wins and no losses, had a very bad one.

The Cubs pounded him for nine hits and six runs, knocking him out in the seventh with a three-run outburst, and they got to his reliever, Stan Hoffman, for six hits and four runs in the eighth.

Walked Into Trouble

Lanning walked himself into a lot of trouble, giving up ten passes in seven innings.

In the fifth two walks and Zeke Bekeza's single filled the bases but Lanning managed to get himself out of the hole with out one-run's worth of damage, and that was walked in.

With the bases loaded and none away, Costrovince popped out to second. Lee Bohlander walked, forcing Pete Schnepf home and the Cubs still had two chances

The Cubs home-run leader stepped up to the plate, third baseman Don Schmitt, who has two four-baggers on the books

Don took a lusty cut at a Lanning pitch and poled the ball over the left field fence, but it curved foul on the way out and he ended up striking out.

Ken Ostrander also smashed a hard hit ball to left field that would have gone for a double, but it too curved foul, and he struck out, leaving three men stranded.

Hit 3 for 5

Ostrander, substituting at left field for Bill Bolduc, who injured an ankle in practice yesterday afternoon, drove in two runs with a sharp single in the seventh an another in the eighth in collecting three hits in five trips.

Bob Shuford opened the seventh with a drive just off the pitcher's mound, Lou Castrovince sacrificed him to second, Bohlander walked, and Schmitt singled Shuford home, Ostrander's blow, the third in the inning that whizzed straight at the mound, drove in Bohlander and Schmitt.

Doubles by Bekeza and Bohlander, the latter's first safety in the last 12 trips, and a single by Castrovince, together with a Muncie error produced four runs for the Cubs in the eighth Ostrander, Edgar and Mislovich also singled in the eighth, but were left

MULLIN SAFE AT THIRD— Pat Mullin, Detroit outfielder, slides in between ball and Bill Johnson, New York third baseman, after Dick Wertz laid down a bunt to pitcher Fran Shea in the fifth inning of Yanks-Tigers game in Detroit, Mich., (May 28). Shea's throw bounced into left field and Mullin scored. Detroit won 7 to 3

Two Olympic Contenders to Race at Delaware Saturday

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, O., May 28—The eyes of the track world will swing this week to Delaware where 203 Ohio conference athletes from 18-member schools converge for the 45th-annual title meet today and Saturday at Ohio Wesleyan's Selby field.

Big attraction will be Harrison Dillard of Baldwin-Wallace, who has raced to 70 straight victories, eclipsing Greg Rice's all-time record of 65 consecutive wins, and who has broken world records in the 120-yard high hurdles and the 220-yard low hurdles

Brelsford Shares Spotlight

Sharing the spotlight with Dillard will be Quentin Brelsford, Wesleyan's great distance runner, who will be out to win the mile and two-mile runs for the Bishops in their first year of conference competition since 1928.

Brelsford won the National Intercollegiate cross-country championship in the fall of 1946 and placed third in the mile in the Intercollegiate track and field meet held in June of the next year.

This past fall, he was leading the field in the cross-country race at East Lansing, Mich, when he slipped and fell while running in four inches of snow. As a result he only finished third.

He is, however, regarded as a good bet to gain an Olympic berth in the 5,000 meter run, a race of slightly longer than three miles

He recently broke the Selby stadium record held by the famous Gil Dodds (currently the world's premier miler) and his new time for the two miles is 9:31.6.

World's Best Hurdler.

Even more certain of an Olympic berth is Dillard, the outstanding hurdler in the world At the Drake relays this spring, Dillard skimmed the 120-yard high hurdles in 13.6—an almost unbelievable time.

He holds the world's 220-yard low hurdle record of :22 5 and ran :22 3 in the National Intercollegiate meet last spring, a record which hasn't as yet been approved but which is expected to be.

He has run the 100-yard dash in 9 5 and is outstanding in other events but his coach never uses him in others, except occasionally the 220. He has a time of :20 7 for that distance.

Dillard probably will enter both hurdle events and the 100-yard dash. He now holds loop marks in all three of these as well as a tie for the 220-yard dash record He has bettered all four of these marks in this spring's competition, and with the perfect condition he has displayed may crack his world records in the hurdles.

Keller Official Starter.

Paul R Keller of Prospect, former coach at the Prospect High school and the outstanding track enthusiast in the area, will be one of the official starters for the meet.

Preliminaries in running events will be held Friday beginning at 4 p. m., and the qualifiers in the field events will begin at 12 30 p. m. Saturday. Finals in all events will get under way at 2:15 p. m.

CLAYTON HEAFNER LEADING COLONIAL

By The Associated Press

FORT WORTH, Tex., May 28—The $15,000 Colonial national invitation golf tournament moved into its second round today with the select field chasing ponderous Clayton Heafner, Charlotte, N. C.

Heafner held a one-stroke lead as the result of his three-under par 67 in yesterday's opening 18 holes.

A stroke behind Heafner were Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va.; Herman Keiser of Akron, O.; Toney Penna of Cincinnati and George Schoux of Mamaroneck, N. Y.

Not out of the running by any means but four strokes back was Ben Mogan, the little guy from Hershey, Pa., who won both the previous Colonial tournaments and who was the general favorite this time in view of his triumph in the national PGA at St. Louis only this week

Undefeated Buckeyes Eye Big 9 Track Crown

By The Associated Press

MADISON, Wis., May 28—Ohio State's unbeaten Buckeyes were eyeing their second Big Nine outdoor track championship in 48 years today as athletes from the league schools opened the Western conference meet at Camp Randall.

The Buckeyes won their first—and only—outdoor crown in 1942 They've already grabbed the indoor title this year and, undefeated in dual competition since coming outside this spring are favored to snap Illinois' string of three straight Big Nine crowns

2ND INDIAN-YANKEE BALL TRIP PLANNED

Ralph M. Nicolosi and Robert W. Garster, proprietors of the Hub Bar and Grill will sponsor a second baseball trip to Cleveland in August, Nicolosi announced today.

About 200 baseball fans in two train coaches went to Cleveland last Sunday to see the Cleveland Indians and the New York Yankees split a double header, and the August trip will also highlight a doubleheader between the two teams

A full train will go up August 8, Nicolosi said. Three hundred and fifty tickets to the ball game have already been purchased and should be in Marion soon.

Crappie Take High In Lake St. Marys

By The United Press

COLUMBUS, O, May 28—Lake St. Marys, in the western part of the state near Celina, today took the prize as the hottest fishing spot of all those reported to the conservation division this week.

The big lake thus promised to be a paradise for those weekend fishermen who like crappie fishing. Each angler trying his luck there this week averaged a catch of almost two fish per hour, and 94 per cent of it was in crappies.

The only other spot of the ten surveyed which actually was labelled "good" was Charles Mills near Mansfield and Ashland Here the catch averaged a little over one fish per hour for each angler and it was about evenly divided between bullheads (40 per cent) and channel catfish (35 per cent).

POWELL TRACK TO OPEN

By International News Service

COLUMBUS, O, May 28—Columbus "doodle-bug" fans will see their first midget auto race program of the year Sunday when nearby Powell Speedway opens its 1948 season. Feature of the opening program is a 100-lap Ohio championship event Powell also plans big car and motorcycle races during the summer.

ST. PAUL SLIPS TO THIRD PLACE IN AA

By The Associated Press

St. Paul, which for weeks had surprised fans and experts alike by staying at the top of the American Association with its new team, was in third place today and in a five-game losing streak.

Indianapolis put the skids on the Saints last night, beating them in both games of a doubleheader, 9 to 4, to tumble them two notches. They were two full games in back of the first place Indians and one game behind Columbus who stayed in the fight for the lead with a 10 to 9 ten-inning victory over Minneapolis

A Shrine night crowd of 15,183 at Columbus saw the Red Birds tie Minneapolis 9-9 in the seventh inning and then go on to win in the tenth. Columbus hammered 16 hits off three Minneapolis pitchers, with Bill Costa, Bill Hoverton and Ben Steiner leading with three hits each

Milwaukee also collected 16 hits in its 10 to 5 win over Louisville, breaking the Colonels' three-game winning streak By Cuker, who relieved Al Epperly in the sixth, set the Colonels down without a hit the rest of the way.

Kansas City moved into a virtual tie with seventh place Toledo as the Blues kept up their winning way by defeating the Mud Hens 7 to 5. The Hens led by seven percentage points but both clubs are 12 games from leading Indianapolis.

Team Competition In ABC Ends Tonight

By The Associated Press

DETROIT. May 28—Eighty bowling teams lining up tonight in the last team competition for the current American Bowling Congress championship will seek to repeat history of 1921 and 1932

In those years the ABC team title was won on the final night of rolling.

Unless one of the last-day competitors can come through with an upset victory the 1948 crown will go to Washington Shirts of Chicago, which leads with a 3007 score.

Athletics Back in First Place After Defeating Nats, 7 to 3

By The Associated Press

Connie Mack's Athletics are safely home in first place, fooling the wiseacres who said Philadelphia would fade in the west. Winners eight times in 13 starts since leaving friendly Shibe park, the Mackmen now must be considered bona fide pennant contenders.

The A's smeared Washington last night 7-3

Cleveland's percentage point columns couldn't stop the A's from regaining the lead last night. They moved a full game in front of the idle Indians and, more important, nine percentage points to the good

Umpire Red Jones found himself in the midst of a shower of bottles beer cans and other debris at Washington in the ninth inning He was in the path of a ball thrown to the plate by Mickey Vernon of Washington Vernon scooped up Pete Suder's grounder and tried to catch Sam Chapman at the plate but the ball struck Jones' chest protector as he stood in the base line

This most explosive outburst by Washington fans in recent years didn't end until Jones told the public address announcer to say the game would be forfeited unless the shower ceased The game was finished and police escorted Jones from the field

Stan Musial polished off his sensational eastern swing with two hits, including his 10th homer, in the St Louis Cards' 9-6 victory over the New York Giants

Red Schoendienst's bases-loaded single was the big blow for the Cards as they scored four runs in the ninth to top the stubborn Giants, 9-6.

The Brooklyn Dodgers ended a one-day stay in the National cellar, climbing to sixth place by shading Chicago, 4-2. Pee Wee Reese stole home on Russ Meyer with what proved to be the winning run although it made the score 3-0 at the time. Ralph Branca went all the way for his third success.

Curt Simmons, the Phillies $60,000 bonus lefthander, finally hit his stride with a fancy three-hit win over Pittsburgh, 2-1

Cincinnati and Boston were idle in the National as were Boston, New York, Cleveland, Chicago, Detroit and St Louis in the American

Booster Clubs Announce Ticket Contest Winners

[illegible] sales results in the Booster benefit baseball contest, which has been running in the city schools the past few weeks, with over 2,100 ducats sold, Don Williamson, publicity chairman for the Harding Boosters, announced today.

The grand prize—a $125 diamond ring—was won by Paul [illegible], a Harding sophomore, who sold the greatest number of tickets. He will receive his award at the presentation ceremonies the night of the game which will be played between the Cubs and Portsmouth June 5.

Next high on the list of salesmen is Jerome Jackson of St. Mary, followed by Joe Lupica, both of the Junior High at St. Mary. Jane Baldauf was tops in the senior division there, followed by Eugene Van Keuren and [illegible] Merchant.

Jim Harmon ranked second among the boys at Harding, while [illegible] Self paced the girls. [illegible] Martin copped second prize in the school in the girl's division.

In the three Junior Highs, three prizes are to be given. Betty Williams, Richard Ban[illegible] and Sylvia Schertzer will receive the Central awards. At Edison Frederick Barlow, Robert [illegible] and Barbara Waters won and Joe Buettin, Carolyn [illegible] and Paul Ludwig at Vernon.

The prizes amount to approximately [illegible] worth of jewelry, bonds, and sports equipment and was donated by Marion merchants. "They are to be commended for their generosity and spirit in backing the boosters and schools in this effort to raise funds for promotion of athletics in the schools." Williamson said.

Although the schools have finished their part in the sale of tickets, the Booster clubs have just begun. They took over where the schools left off, and will run the campaign up to the night of the game.

Members of the boosters will be out in front of the gate at Lincoln park for all games between now and June 5. Watch for them and get your ticket to the big benefit game.

SPRINGFIELD WINS 2, TAKES 0-1 LEAD

Giants Cuff Dodgers 15-3 and 17-5.

By The Associated Press

Springfield's Giants, supported by some stalwart slugging, stood at the top of the Ohio-Indiana baseball league heap today a halfgame ahead of the Muncie Reds.

The Giants achieved this eminence with a couple of fantastic victories over the Zanesville Dodgers last night. Springfield took the first contest, 15-3, and the second rout, 17-5.

Portsmouth took advantage of the Zanesville losses only partially but managed to slip into a deadlock with the Dodgers for third spot. Portsmouth took a tightly played 3-0 decision from Newark, the cellar leaseholder at present, in the first game of another doubleheader. But Newark came back in the afterpiece to win, 12-7.

In other league games, Marion toppled Muncie, 10-1, and Lima whipped Richmond's Braves, 14-8.

Springfield could point to one man who stood out, even in the double runaway the Giants hooked up with Zanesville. He was second baseman Tim Caito, who whaled a four-run homer in the first game when his team was behind one run, and slugged another in the nightcap with one mate aboard.

The line scores:

ROBERT McKEEVER LOW IN GOLF TOURNEY

Robert McKeever shot a 33 for the best score in the lowest 12-hole tournament in class A competition at the Marion Country club Wednesday. Other scores in class A were 41 by Barney Buettin and H. W. Freck and 43 by John Dugan.

Low gross honors went to McKeever who shot 35-41-76; Barney Buettin grossed 39-38-77.

It was a four-way tie in B competition with Wayne Johnson, Paul Hunt, Charles Kerrey and Sherman Haldeman scoring 40.

In class C, Dr. R. Morgan and Otis Porter made 36's and Don Cuthbert and Charles Gerber, 40's. Leroy Clauer, Frank Sage and John Demorest each scored 41.

Murdock, Blakely Win Wrestling Bouts

Frankie Murdock and Gene Blakely won matches last night at the Armory in a rough night of "rassaling." Murdock took his decision by default when Buck Maupin of Toledo, new referee for the wrestling matches, outlawed Jack Terry for using dirty tactics. Terry was disqualified for choking Murdock in the third fall, following a previous warning. Murdock won the first fall with a rolling leg split in 20 minutes.

Blakely won the first fall in his bout with Bill Murray with a series of elbow punches and a body press in 11 minutes. Murray took the second in six minutes with an inside toe hold and stomp before giving in to Blakely and his body press in the third.

Edgar Says Burbrink Going Great in Iowa

Pitcher Jim Edgar, who left the Clinton, Iowa, Cubs Monday to strengthen the Marion Cubs mound staff, says the class C ball club was doing fine when he left.

Clinton is managed by Nelson Burbrink, who piloted the locals last year. They had won 11 and lost five when Edgar left.

Burbrink, the Ohio State league's leading hitter last year, is going at a great clip in the Central Association, Edgar said. He's currently batting .390. He recently set a league record when he was walked eight straight times in two games.

Dwight Maxhimer and John Smith, other Marion Cubs of last year, are also coming along OK, Edgar reported. Maxhimer is batting in the .270's and Smith .299.

Edgar, a native of Centralia, Ill., started in baseball with that club as a catcher, but was converted into a pitcher and earned an 11-9 record in the Illinois State league last year.

He was in the Marines two years, in the Fourth division.

Coon Chase Set Monday On Morrow Co. Farm

The annual Decoration Day coon chase, sponsored by the Northwestern Ohio Affiliated Coon clubs, will be held Monday on the Tellie Rinehart farm near Mt. Gilead this year. It will be a $500 guaranteed final, R. W. Stall of Galion, treasurer of the Northwestern clubs, reported.

Each year one of the 15 clubs in the organization sponsors the event, and this year Morrow county was selected to furnish grounds for the chase. The Rinehart farm which is located three miles north of Mt. Gilead on highway 61 was chosen because of the cover available for laying trail tracks and the fine vantage point for viewing the finish.

Last year's chase was held at Findlay and 140 dogs were entered in the eliminations. A still larger entry is expected this year, Mr. Stall said. Other officers of the Northwestern Ohio clubs are Carl Stewart, [illegible], president, and Earl [illegible], [illegible]enville, secretary. [illegible]

COOLER, POLLAK, HUBER WIN TILTS

Universal Cooler softballers jumped on Commercial Steel for six runs in the first inning of an Industrial League No. 1 game last night and went on to cop the victory, 8-2.

Kunkle gave but three hits to the Steelers, but Cooler got to Reeder for nine.

Pollak Steel nosed out the Marion Power Shovel nine, 4-2, and Huber blasted Fairfield, 14-4, in other industrial loop games.

Pollak notched three runs in the third, and another in the seventh off a total of five hits. Stanley was the winning pitcher and Putney the loser.

Huber scored in every inning in the rout of Fairfield and pounded Sheaffer for 16 hits. Millisor gave up eight safeties.

Pollak 030 000 1—4 5 1
Shovel 000 020 0—2 7 4
Stanley and Obenour; Putney and Wilcox.
Fairfield 110 020 0— 4 8 0

CRESTLINE SCHOOL GRADUATION HELD

CRESTLINE, May 28—"Leadership for Tomorrow" was the subject of the address given to the graduates of 1948 at Crestline High school Wednesday night by Cameron Beck, New York vocational and industrial consultant.

Supt. A. A. Remy introduced the speaker and also presented Frank McNeal, president of the board of education. The high school orchestra opened the program and also gave the processional, Rev. R. L. Van Scoy of Trinity Lutheran church gave the invocation. In two numbers by the orchestra and the a cappella choir Mrs. Gregg Pennington directed.

The class song, written to the tune of "Serenade of the Bells" with words by Ruth Simmermacher and Arvine Kindinger Jr. was then sung with Donald Post accompanist. Rev. S. A. Metzger of First English Lutheran church pronounced the benediction which was followed by the choral response "The Lord Bless You and Keep You."

Diplomas were given to 44 seniors.

High school girls were the ushers. Spring flowers were used as decorations.

Son Succeeds as Head Of Ohio Oil Company

By The Associated Press

FINDLAY, O., May 28—O. D. Donnell yesterday announced his retirement as president and manager of the Ohio Oil company.

His son J. C. Donnell 2nd was immediately elected to succeed him at the annual stockholders meeting of the company here. He became the third member of his family to hold the position.

O. D. Donnell said he would continue as director of the firm.

Other officers elected were W. B. Emery, O. F. Moore, C. Z. Hardwick, and G. E. McCullough, all of Findlay, vice presidents; R. C. Williams, Houston, Tex., vice president; G. H. Smith of Findlay, treasurer, and E. B. Redpath, secretary.

O. D. Donnell followed his father J. C. Donnell 1st as president of the firm in 1927. J. C Donnell 1st had been connected with the company since its formation in 1887.

Officers Are Reelected By Waddell Home Board

Officers were reelected and committees renamed Thursday night at the annual meeting of the board of trustees of the Waddell Ladies' home. Homer R. Waddell will again head the board as president, Charles D. Schaffner, vice president and Roy H. Waddell, secretary-treasurer.

Renamed for another year were the following committees: Mrs. George E. Turner, chairman, Mrs. W. N. Harder, Mrs. C. H. Isaly and Miss Mary Kull, house; John H. Clark, chairman, Charles D. Schaffner and Dr. F. A. Stengel, finance; Mrs. C. H. Isaly, chairman, Mrs. Harder, Miss Kull and Mrs. Turner, admissions.

The meeting was held at the Waddell home at 1241 East Center street where the board members and Miss Edna S. Dutton, a guest, were entertained at dinner by Mrs. Grace Strawser, matron. Following the business session the group visited with the staff and residents of the home.

REJECT VOTING MACHINE

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 28—Student officials at Ohio State university don't want a voting machine for campus elections. They voted last night to turn down an offer of Walter C. Stross of Cincinnati, a former student, and to return his $1,200 check. Stross has withdrawn from school in protest of a $5 fee over a new student union.

HUTCHINS, COLLEGE HEAD, DIVORCE SUIT DEFENDANT

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, May 28 — Robert Maynard Hutchins, 49, chancellor of the University of Chicago and "boy wonder" of education two decades ago, was sued for divorce yesterday on grounds of desertion.

Mrs. Maude Phelps Hutchins, sculptor, artist and writer, charged he deserted her March 14, 1947, after 26 years of marriage.

She asked for alimony, support and custody of the two minors among their three children.

Hutchins, in a routine answer which indicated he would not contest the action, said he and his wife lived together until March 14, 1947. He denied he wilfully deserted or absented himself from her.

Common Sense Stock Powder

A conditioner for stock and poultry. We need a few good farmers in Marion county to share their orders with neighbors. Consider Raber and Kaylor reports:

Henry J. Raber of Millersburg, Route 1, reports they have used Common Sense Stock Powder and Dip at the Raber farms for about 30 years and it has done their livestock a lot of good.

To Whom It May Concern:
I have been selling Common Sense Stock Powder for the past 12 years and have many satisfied customers.
We have been feeding it to our own livestock for the past years and find that it will do all that the company claims it will do.—

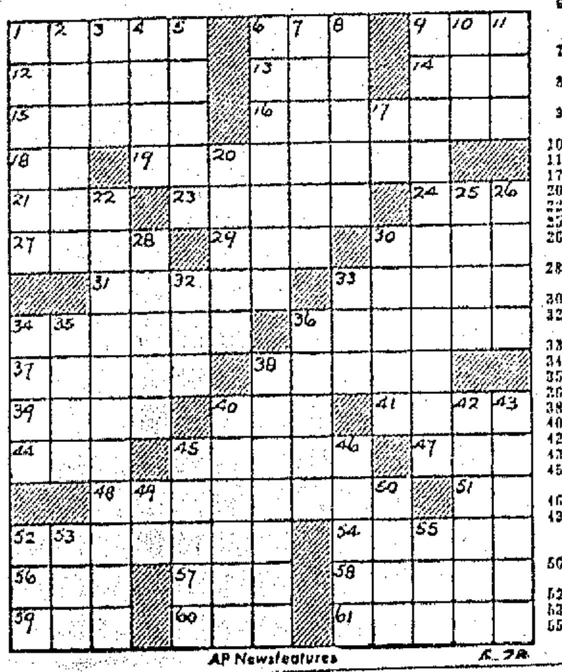
Solution of Yesterday's Puzzle



AP Newsfeatures 5-28

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY

By AP Newsfeatures

EDWARD BENES, born May 28, 1884, is president and one of the founders of Czechoslovakia. He saw his country smashed when England and France bowed to Hitler at Munich. Today, he lives under a Communist regime. He was chief aid to Thomas G. Massaryk, father of his country. Benes long served as foreign minister and was one of the leaders in the League of Nations. He fled from the Austrians in World War I and from the Nazis in World War II. He remained in Prague after the recent Communist coup.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

Runaway inflation is still with us . . . 14 men on Long Island each offered $10,000 for a wife.

There was a time you could get a wife for the license fee and a lien on your wages . . . Now they want more than baby sitters and in advance.

Ten thousand sounds high but it's 53 thousand cheaper than a stock exchange seat and loads more exciting.

There are no quotations on husbands . . . Evidently they are in long supply and a drug on the market.

Particularly since the news broke that husbands are better laundresses than their wives . . . What woman wants a better laundress for a husband?

The story is that since the first coin-in-the-slot laundry opened 50 per cent of the customers are men . . . They just can't seem to resist a slot machine.
